Dig Trenches Around Warsaw

With German troops literally knocking at the door of the city, Poles in Warsaw were frantically digging trenches (top picture) around the city, preparing for a desperate defense of the capital, whose loss to the Nazis would be more of a sentimental tradgedy to the Poles than a military setback. The government has already moved to Lublin, 100 miles to the southwest. Bottom picture shows three views of the Polish capital.

Claims Of Rival Forces

GERMANY

The German high command asserts that all of the western Polish industrial area, about one-third of the country, is or soon will be in German hands and that the Reich's forces are rapidly getting into position for a three-sided attack on Warsaw. Westerplatte garrison in Danizg harbor reported to have surrendered after six days of resistance. Germans reported 20 miles from Warsaw.

ALLIES

French army communique claims French forces advance into German territory on western front. Unofficial reports says French penetrating as far as seven miles into the Saar district; 300 French and British planes reported to have bombed German west wall fortifications.

BERLIN—(U.P.)—A government announcement today said that German troops had captured General Gosiorowski, commander of the 7th Polish division and until 1936 the chief of general staff for the late Marshal Josef Pilsudski.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—The Associated Press was informed officially today that the German army already was within 20 miles of Warsaw, but even this report was declared "probably already completely superseded."

It was announced officially also that the Polish garrison at Westerplatte, the Polish military depot in Danzig harbor, had surrendered at 10:20 a. m. today (4:20 a. m., EST). The Poles had been under German air and naval attack since early on the morning of Sept. 1.

The German supreme command stated that the Westerplatte force of 120 men fought gallantly for several days, but in view of the hopelessness of the general situation—as the Germans put it—decided to surrender.

Thus one of the greatest German fears, that Danzig, newly rejoined to the reich, might be destroyed by the Poles' setting off

City Honors Noted Son Tomorrow At World Premiere

Tomorrow Mansfield will get out the flags and banners and kill the fatted calf for the first official tribute to its most famous son, Louis Bromfield.

The inspiration for the celebration is the world premiere of the motion picture based on his novel "The Rains Came", which will take place tomorrow night at the Ohio and Madison theaters.

Main street will be lined with flags in honor of the Mansfield school boy who left here 23 years ago and returned last year after having established himself as one of the leading figures in the international literary world.

Tomorrow evening, some 270 Mansfielders will attend a dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel at 6 p. m. arranged in honor of the novelist by friends. Sitting at the side of the guest of honor will be Mrs. Bromfield and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bromfield of New York City.

Henry G. Brunner, who was Bromfield's first publisher when the author was a reporter on the old Shield and Banner days, will be toastmaster.

Immediately after the dinner the two theaters will present "The Rains Came" to capacity houses. The picture is being shown here before it is seen anywhere else in the world, except New York City, where it also opens tomorrow night.

The high school band playing outside the theater will represent the school from which Bromfield graduated in 1914. Among the most interested spectators in the theater will be the author's three children, Anne, Hope and Ellen.

Every effort to bring one or more stars of the picture to Mansfield for the premiere was made, but definite word was received this morning that George Brent, who has one of the leading roles, would be unable to get here, because he is at work on another picture.

British Open Drive On German U-Boats

Chamberlain Discloses War Plans To Commons; Reveals Poland Given More Financial Aid To Battle Nazis.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—The British navy has swung into action to combat the menace of German u-boats which have already sunk three or four British merchant vessels in addition to the ill-starred Athenia, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced in the house of commons today.

He disclosed as well that Britain and France have now signed a formal agreement lending new financial aid to Poland to aid her in stemming Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's advance in pursuit of a "quick victory" in the east.

"The British and French governments," Chamberlain said, as Lord Stanhope, lord president of the council, made a similar statement in the house of lords, "today signed an agreement with Poland for provision of further financial assistance to enable Poland to replenish her resources."

Chamberlain was enthusiastically cheered as he arose in the house to make his first public statement since his fateful announcement on Sunday, when he told Britain and the world that because of Hitler's aggression, a state of war between Germany and England had been created.

The prime minister first described the situation in Poland and then turned to the situation in France.

Forces Mobilized.

"In the west," he said, "France like ourselves has mobilized her forces with complete efficiency and smoothness. French troops are now in contact with the enemy on their common frontier.

"The Germans have often stressed the need for a short war and a quick decision. In pursuance of this idea, the German plan appears to be to concentrate the first major effect against Poland, and as the house is aware, that coun-

French Troops Push Nazi On 100-Mile Front

British Aircraft Bombards West Wall While Populace Flees Saar Basin; First Wounded Troops Arrive In Paris; German Artillery Fires.

(By International News Service)

Intensely heavy fighting, featured by terrific cannonades from French and German artillery, proceeded before the Maginot and Siegfried lines on the Franco-German border today.

Direct telephone contact with Luxembourg, nearest neutral city to the fighting, disclosed a widespread rumor there that part of the Siegfried line had already been blown up under the concerted Anglo-French artillery, infantry and air force advance.

There was no official confirmation, however.

The Saar Basin has been partially evacuated, it was learned, as it lies directly in the path of the Allied advance.

Casualties apparently have been heavy.

Arrival of numerous casualties in Paris from the western front necessitated opening of the American hospital at Neuilly, just outside of the French capital, for the accommodation of wounded troops.

British aircraft again flew over the west wall, without encountering enemy fire.

French troops are slowly advancing along a 100-mile front. Their initial break-through across the frontier on Monday was aided by the British and French air force.

The advancing Allied troops are meeting with considerable resistance from what military authorities describe as "automatic arms"—presumably meaning artillery and machine-guns.

Full cooperation between the British and French high commands for uninterrupted continuance of the offensive against Germany's Siegfried line which began with penetration into Reich territory on Monday was established in Paris today.

Army Leaders Confer.

Coincident with publication of war communique number 7 telling of "marked activities" during the night of the Franco-German front, official announcement was made that commanders of the British overseas army and air force had been officially received on Tuesday by the French high command and plans discussed for joint operations against the enemy.

Brigadier-General Sir Edmund Ironsides, commander-in-chief of British overseas forces whose last mission was to Warsaw where he drafted Anglo-Polish military strategy, was received with full honors by General Marie Gustave Gamelin, chief of the French general staff.

Air Marshal Sir Cyril Newall, chief of the British Royal Air force, was welcomed to France by General Victor Vuillemin, commander of the French aerial arm.

Concentrate on Saar.

At the same time, it was officially disclosed that units of the Royal Air force are already operating in France side by side with the French, presumably leading the onslaught against German forces in the Saar region.

Reports received in Paris by way of Switzerland alleged that Germany was planning to infringe the rights of some unnamed neutral state or states. Former Premier Leon Blum, in a special newspaper article this morning declared:

"Britain and France are fighting for the rights of neutral states. Many neutrals are like-

SOARING FOOD PRICES SPREAD

Other Staples Follow Sugar, Flour Increases Blamed on 'Panicky War Buying.'

Prices of other staple foodstuffs began to move upward in Mansfield today, a survey showed, following the pace set earlier in the week by sugar and flour, as the result of what has been termed "panicky war buying" by the public.

Increases were noted in local markets in the price of beans—from about 4 cents a pound to 6—as well as in meat, especially pork. This reflected the sharp increase in the price of hogs on livestock markets.

Sugar, quoted wholesale at $5 a hundred pounds a week ago, sold for $6.50 today, an increase of a cent and half a pound. Retailers, of course, passed the increase on to the consumers.

Flour was up $1 a hundred pounds in wholesale prices.

Meanwhile, wholesale and retail grocers continued to blame the increase on needless buying by a public fearful of war-time shortages, and insisted that supplies were normal, with no shortages in sight.

The situation was not peculiar to Mansfield. Prices were soaring all over Ohio, and brought a request for a state-wide investigation of possible profiteering and a

Warsaw In Mass Evacuation As Nazi Artillery Booms Louder

(Editor's Note: The United Press Warsaw staff, headed by Edward W. Beattie, jr., sent its last report on conditions in the Polish capital at 9:50 a. m. Wednesday (Warsaw time: 3:50 a. m. EST). This may or may not indicate a worsening situation, causing the official censor to hold up news dispatches for fear of informing the enemy. In view of this, Beattie's last dispatch, which arrived last night, is of particular interest.)

WARSAW, Sept. 6.—Everyone able to borrow or beg a conveyance was abandoning the Polish capital today as the rumble of distant German artillery fire grew louder.

There were many among the 1,700,000 population, however, who could find no means of leaving and to them the imminence of invasion was so real that they were inclined to talk in whispers.

The government had moved to Lublin, 100 miles southeast, and the foreign embassies were closed. A large force of Germans was reported spreading out on a line of 30 miles north of Warsaw and the city seemed destined to come under artillery fire, perhaps in a few hours.

Absence of government spokesmen meant that there were no reports on the progress of fighting elsewhere in the country, except as broadcast infrequently and semi-officially on the Polish radio.

Discouraging news was brought by refugees now arriving from cities as distant as Lodz, 60 miles west. The arrival of German troops near Lodz meant that the whole southwestern industrial district had been captured.

The refugees, too, created a new problem here, most of them had come in automobiles with only enough gasoline to get this far and no means of proceeding. There was no gasoline for sale here.

ALAMO: Heroic Poles Raise White Flag Over Old Fortress

By GEORGE KIDD, United Press Staff Correspondent.

RIGA, Latvia—Word came out of Berlin today that Poland had fought and lost its "battle of the Alamo."

For four days I watched that battle—the attempt of a handful of Poles in the Westerplatte fortress on a spit of land near Danzig to repel air, sea and land attacks by German forces. The saga of heroism ended, according to advices from Berlin, when the garrison surrendered to the Germans at 10:20 a. m. today.

Almost every war produces some isolated act of heroism such at this one—the Greeks at Thermopylae, the Americans in the little Texas mission called the Alama, the forces of Franco who held the Alcazar at Toledo during the Spanish civil war.

At Westerplatte, it was said, some of the chivalry of medieval warfare returned in the midst of modern, mechanized warfare where the rules are off.

The German attackers paid tribute to the valor of the Polish defenders when the white flag of surrender went up.

The outbreak of the war found between 70 and 200 men in the Westerplatte. They were dug in strongly behind modern fortifications, machine guns were placed shrewdly and the defenders were well equipped with ammunition and food.

It was there that the first shot of the war was fired.

The German naval training ship Schleswig-Holstein steamed into

LONDON: British Determined To 'Smash Hitlerism For Good'

(By United Press)

LONDON—Britain's nine-man war cabinet has determined to smash Hitlerism for good now that the new war has started, it was reported today.

Count Edward Raczinski, Polish ambassador, after conferences with Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary and Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, was understood to have reported to his government that the war cabinet had unflinchingly determined to smash Hitlerism.

The influential Times, regarded as frequently reflecting views of high official quarters, said today that Hitlerism must be ended.

Particular interest attached to Raczinski's report and to the Times editorial because of reports circulating in Europe that some sort of peace move might be made by Germany or in Germany's behalf as soon as Adolf Hitler felt that his armies had penetrated sufficiently into Poland.

The idea was that Hitler wanted only a local war.

Also there were reports that Benito Mussolini might soon make some peace move.

The Times said:

"If and when the German armies have completed a considerable advance, Hitler would naturally be

Are You Thrill Chaser?

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Countless numbers of young people of this generation live on thrills. Does this include you?

Or, at least, do you talk about thrills most of the time? Do you go around looking for experiences that you think will thrill you, and do you cast aside just about everything that you think hasn't a thrill in it?

If that's the case, I'm interested in knowing what it is that thrills you. It goes without saying that the chief thrills in everybody's life are produced by love.

Love is the most powerful battery in the universe, and the things that love does to us are mort agitating and more delicious—and sometimes more terrible—than any other "kick" that life can give us.

A normal boy and a normal girl find each other the most thrilling objects conceivable. And about this there cannot be any argument.

But people aren't in love all of the time. Even the youngest and most thrill-hungry have hours, days, weeks, unoccupied by love.

What is it then, that thrills you? Detective stories? Movies? Compounds of mystery and love and crime? Most young people nowadays resort to one or the other.

And sport, perhaps? Undoubtedly great thrills are to be found in sport, whether at first or at second hand. It's exciting to play ball or to swim. Or sometimes it would seem that it's almost more exciting to watch others play. Perhaps you're one of the thousands who go to football games and who say, at the time, that that's the biggest thrill of all.

There are many men and a few young women who say they get a big kick out of prize-fights. Am I right?

Or have you the airplane fever? Or do you desire to be taken on an expedition to the end of the world, so you can explore?

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

At my appeal to my father he opened his eyes, brilliant with his indomitable spirit, and looked steadily at me.

"I must go to my rooms for a few minutes in order to get rid of these," he said, lifting his hand toward the bushy grey wig and eyebrows which had been his effective disguise in the armoured car. "But then, child, I must begin to set things in motion here. I must not delay, for in this particular instance time is most pressing. Not an unnecessary minute of it must be wasted."

"That is very true, Chief," Lillian said, with apparent meek acquiescence, but over his seated figure she gave me an encouraging wink. "But it isn't off the cards for us to give you a helping hand, is it? Please pretend that we're in nursing uniform."

Doubles for Stretcher-Bearer.

He gave a hand to each of us, and raised himself laboriously from his chair. But at his first faltering step forward Harry Underwood, a magnificent six feet of brawn and strength, came to him.

"You're not going to deny me the privilege of doubling for a stretcher-bearer, are you sir?" he asked deferentially. "My muscles are simply aching from inaction."

He did not wait for an answer, but swept my father's frail figure up into his strong arms as deftly, as tenderly, as if the older man had been a child, and strode with him into the hall and up the stairs.

"Wait! I cannot permit—" my father began, then stopped as suddenly, evidently realizing the futility of protest. I think, also, that he secretly was relieved at being transported so swiftly, so effortlessly, to his rooms. His pain-racked and weak frame must have dreaded the laborious ascent of the stairs.

Harry Underwood's keen eyes took in the turned-down bed and he moved toward it. But my father spoke peremptorily:

"Not the bed, Harry; the chair," he said. The big man obediently settled him in the big armchair, and then stepped back a pace, as Lillian came back with Miss Whitlock in tow. My father frowned as he saw the nurse.

Chief Eager to Get to Work.

"I don't need any attention," he said. "Miss Whitlock very kindly ministered to me during the journey. I am perfectly able to go on with my work."

"Father, dear, forgive me," I pleaded, "but I want the nurse's opinion on that. Do you think, Miss Whitlock," I appealed to the nurse directly, "that he ought to go to work without a rest, even if only a short one, after that fatiguing journey?"

"If he would rest a half hour," the nurse said, "taking a prescription the doctor gave me for him, and relax completely, I do not think it would hurt him to do some work, providing he doesn't move around too much. But I certainly must protest—I would forbid, if I could—any effort for the next half hour."

"It is impossible for me to rest now," my father said stubbornly. "I must set my affairs in motion."

"Look here, Chief!" Lillian said brightly. "Suppose you let old Missus Fix-it in on this thing. By setting affairs in motion, you mean seeing various men and giving them their orders, I'm sure. Why don't you give old Harry, here, a list of everybody you want to see, and any particular thing you want started?"

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, September 8.

WHILE affairs generally may be fairly active and much may be accomplished by attending to matters at hand, there are signs of distractions, with probable lures of adventure or romance. Attention to old duties, with the development of systems and details giving these matters stability and certainty, might be more desirable than indulging propensities toward chasing will-o'-the-wisps. Just now romance has its hazards. Shun chance and litigation.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves torn between two conflicting stresses during the year. It may be a case of "twixt love and duty." Work, security, stabilization and obligations to old duties and ties, however irksome, should be heeded rather than strong urges in the direction of adventure and romance. Change and chance are hazardous, and there are implications of law entanglements.

A child born on this day may have a fine mind and a sound and responsible character, but there are romantic urges which might [illegible] it from obligations or old ties.

Cream Tuna In Cheese Noodle Ring

By ALICE LYNN DARRY

Want some new and attractive recipes? If so, you've come to the right spot, for we have collected some new dishes, all tried and tested, and brimming over with goodness.

Creamed Tuna and Ripe Olives in a Cheese Noodle Ring is the lengthy name of our first dish. This is a splendid choice for Friday. Served with a crisp green salad and a tasty sweet, it makes a splendid meal. The cheese noodle ring is made with one small package of noodles (five ounces), two eggs, one-fourth cup evaporated milk, one-fourth cup grated cheese. Boil noodles in salted water until tender. Drain, saving water for sauce, then rinse. Beat eggs. Add the milk, then grated cheese and noodles. Pour into a buttered ring mold and bake in 325° F. oven until set, about 20 minutes. When ready to serve, unmold ring on hot platter and fill center with tuna and ripe olive mixture. This requires one tablespoon butter, two tablespoons flour, one half teaspoon salt, one cup water (drained from noodles), one seven-ounce can tuna fish (two cups), one four-an-one-half-ounce can chopped ripe olives (three-fourths cup), one large diced pimento (one-fourth cup), few gratings onion, teaspoon lemon juice, one cup evaporated milk. Melt butter. Add flour, salt, and the water drained from noodles. Cook until slightly thickened. Add tuna, olives, pimento, onion, lemon juice and milk. Cook until thickened.

New Idea for Beets.

Next comes a brand new idea in beet cookery. If the family is addicted to beets and you've run the gamut of buttered beets, boiled beets pickled beets and so on, try the ruddy vegetable with a tangy horseradish sauce. It is a quick method of preparing beets, too, for the beets are peeled raw and shredded, thus shortening the cooking time considerably. A little vinegar is added to the water in which the beets are cooked—it helps to preserve the bright color and, at the same time, imparts a spicy flavor. The recipe calls for one bunch of beets (four or five) one tablespoon vinegar, two cups water, one-fourth teaspoon salt, tablespoon butter, two tablespoons flour, one cup water drained from beets, one cup evaporated milk, two tablespoons horseradish. Pare beets thinly. Shred coarsely. There should be two cups. Boil beets, vinegar and salt until beets are tender, about 20 minutes. Make a sauce of butter, flour, water from beets, milk and horseradish. Combine with beets and serve hot. Six servings.

Mint Meringues top off today's recipe roundup. This is a delightful sweet, if you like peppermint flavor. It is made wtih three egg whites, a pinch of salt, three-fourths cup confectioners' sugar and one-half teaspoon essence of peppermint. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff but not dry. Fold in peppermint essence. Gradually add sugar, continuing the beating to form a stiff meringue. Shape into mounds on a baking sheet covered with heavy brown paper. Remove from paper while warm. Bake at 250° F. for 75 minutes and leave in oven 15 minutes to dry with the heat turned off.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE DOUBLE SQUEEZE

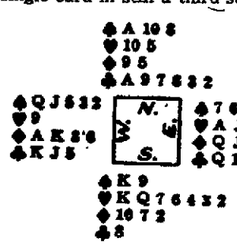
NAMED, as it is, because of the number of opponents squeezed, two of them, this play is sometimes incorrectly called the triple squeepe because it squeezes the opponents in three different suits besides the one on which they discard. In basic principle, it combines a forward squeeze against the first opponent to play to the crucial trick with a backward squeeze against the other opponent. Both try to guard one suit, but one of them has to guard a single card in another suit and the other has to try to guard a single card in still a third suit.



(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

Brisk bidding here was started by West's 1-Sade. North bid 2-Clubs, East 2-Diamonds, South 2-Hearts, West 3-Diamonds, North 4-Clubs, East 4-Diamonds, South 4-Hearts and East doubled.

Two diamonds were taken, then to stop ruffs a trump to the A and another trump won by declarer, who needed the rest of the tricks. He got them by a double squeeze. He took three more trumps, the spade A and K, then led his last two hearts.

When the final trump was played, declarer held also the diamond 10 and club 8, and in dummy were the club A-9 and the spade 10. Discarding on the last heart, West could not throw the spade Q, as that would make dummy's 10 good. So he tossed a club. Dummy then discarded the now useless spade 10, and it was East's turn. If he threw one of his two clubs the dummy's 9 would become good, and if he trashed the diamond Q the declarer's diamond 10 would be good. So whatever he did was wrong. The declarer had him.

Beauty And Problems Of Elderly

By MME. QUI VIVE

Time was when the family Bible reposed on a marble-topped table in the parlor; within its pages were written the birthdays of each member of the family to be read by any visitor. Nothing like that these days and it makes the world a better place for women. No birthdays after forty has become a practice. Dancing grandmothers are the wonder of the age.

The silver-crowned contingent is strolling over golf courses, doing the round of night clubs if it pleases, keeping in touch with everything that is going on. Frumpy dodos have disappeared; they belonged to a period when solemnity bespoke respectability and gaiety was under suspicion.

Elderly women should dress according to type. There are grand old girls with slender shapes, sparkling eyes, ready wit and quick movements, who would look out of character in middle-aged clothes. Youthful attire is theirs by right; they have earned the privilege of wearing it by taking good care of their bodies, obeying the laws of health, facing life splendidly

A little swish of rouge on the cheeks, a light film of rose on the lips and they belong to this modern age. They have kept in step with the beauty parade. They make the most adorable grandmothers in the world. The young fry loves them.

CHAPTER XXIX

"Didn't Penelope care any more, Elizabeth asked herself as her sister and Kim talked on quietly there in the garden. She looked quite serene and undisturbed. Which, then, was the real Penelope? The girl who had sobbed and cried for Kim during those dreadful days in Paris; or this self-composed, slightly cynical young woman?

She looks much older, Elizabeth thought with compassion—and she wondered why she had not noticed the change in her sister before. She looks as if all the best of her has burned itself out and just left an empty shell.

Mrs. Selby and Miss Thornley joined them and they returned to the house, Kim and Penelope walking together.

Mrs. Selby stopped to speak to one of the gardeners and then Miss Thornley said in an undertone, to Elizabeth:

"I had no idea Kim was here. It's rather awkward, but you haven't mentioned him in any of your letters."

Her eyes followed the figure of her elder niece. "Perhaps—what do you think, Elizabeth? They may make it up, after all."

"Perhaps," Elizabeth said, with an effort.

"It's perfectly vile," Barbara whispered to Elizabeth as they went in to lunch. "I don't think Penelope should have stayed when she found that Kim was here."

"Oh, but why?" Elizabeth asked. "It's—all over—isn't it?"

But in spite of premonitions, lunch passed off very comfortably, and as soon as it was over, Miss Thornley declared they must go on their way.

"I dislike motoring in the country after dark," she said.

Penelope followed Elizabeth to her room before they left.

"Kim looks well," she said in a matter of fact voice, as she was powdering her nose at the mirror. "He has not altered in the least."

"Hasn't he?"

There was a short silence, and again Elizabeth was thinking, "How can she bear it and speak so calmly, how can she!"

Penelope suddenly turned around and there was an odd smile on her lips.

"I know what you're thinking," she said tensely. "You're wondering why I haven't made a scene, aren't you? Thrown myself at his feet—or burst into tears." She made an expressive gesture with her hands and then let them fall. "You can't—" she said, and now it was as if she spoke to herself. "You can't. It's only people who are not—badly hurt—who make scenes."

"Oh, Penelope," Elizabeth said, sorrowfully.

Roy's voice called through the house. "Now then you two girls!"

Penelope started, and picked up her handbag.

"Well, it's nice to have seen you," she said in her usual voice. "I don't think you're looking too fit. I suppose it's a hectice life down here. Are you coming to see us off?"

They went downstairs together, and joined the group at the front door.

"Thank you so much," Miss Thornley was saying. "I feel it's been rather an imposition. Goodbye, Kim. I am glad to have seen you again. Come and see us when—" She broke off in confusion with a quick glance at her elder niece, but Penelope calmly echoed the invitation.

"Yes, do come and see us when you are back in town."

It was just as the car was moving away that she suddenly leaned forward as if to say something she had forgotten or had deliberately left till the last moment, and Elizabeth saw her eyes go to Kim's face with a tragic question before she sank back again. Then in an instant the car was out of sight. Elizabeth would never forget that look.

"Nice of them to have called," Mrs. Selby said. "I always wish I knew your aunt better, Elizabeth.

Roy came up to them frowning.

"The guv'nor wants me to drive him to Bridgelake," he grumbled. "Why can't he drive himself or take the chauffeur?"

"It's Smith's day off," his mother reminded him. "And surely my dear boy, just for once."

"Don't be a bear, darling," Elizabeth said lightly, and when with a growl he followed his mother into the house, she would have gone after him, but Kim Lawless stopped her.

"No, Elizabeth," he said. He was between her and the door, and as she did not speak, he went on. "If you try to run away, I shall prevent you by main force."

She flushed crimson.

"You wouldn't dare," she said in a stiffled voice.

He met her eyes calmly.

"Wouldn't I? Try me and see." And then, as her eyes fell, he said casually, "I should like to show you the roses, Miss Challoner, there is one particularly fine bush—"

"Very well," she said, and she turned and went back with him down the steps and across the lawn.

No sunshine now. Grey clouds scudding up from all directions, as if they were in a hurry to keep an appointment, and the leaves of the tall trees were showing their backs as if in eager anticipation of rain.

Elizabeth tried to think of something to say, but her mouth felt dry and her lips cold, though at last she managed to ask:

"Where is Barbara?"

"She has gone over to the Beasleys' for tennis. I was invited, but I pleaded a headache, and so I am afraid I am not very popular with Barbara at the moment."

They were out of sight of the house now, but when Lawless would have turned toward the sundial, Elizabeth stood still.

"Not that way." As he did not speak, she went on flippantly. "I don't know why you are suddenly behaving as if you were my keeper, and in case you imagine it is my idea of happiness to spend my afternoon with you, let me tell you—"

She broke off with a stifled cry as he caught her wrist in fingers of steel.

"You can stop that, Elizabeth," he said roughly. "You've had it your own way so far, and now it's my turn, and for a change you are going to do as you are told."

She struggled against him ineffectually.

"Let me go. You're hurting me. Please let me go."

A wave of emotion crossed his face but he did not release her.

"I'm sorry if I hurt you," he said, "but you have hurt me enough during the past few weeks. No, we'll go this way, if you please. My car is close by and, in case we should be interrupted, I think a country drive this glorious afternoon is the wisest thing to do. I hope you agree."

His voice was bitterly sarcastic and Elizabeth broke out furiously:

"I will not go with you. You can't make me—I won't go. How dare you behave like this!"

Lawless glanced over his shoulder, and then, stooping, he abruptly picked her up in his arms.

"Better go quietly," he said.

Elizabeth beat at his shoulders with impotent hands.

"Let me go. How dare you!" Suddenly she relaxed. "I'll never forgive you as long as I live," she said, with the quietness of despair. "If you know how I hate you—"

"If you know how I love you," he answered.

She made no more resistance and, when they reached the car, he set her down on her feet, but she did not move until he asked, "Shall I lift you in?"

She looked up at him.

"I'll never forgive you—never," she said again. "And if Roy knew—"

Lawless laughed. "Roy!" he said contemptuously.

Neither of them spoke again until they were some way from the house. Elizabeth sat stiffly beside him, her hands clasped in her lap, her lips pressed together, and presently she said, "I'm not afraid of, you. I hope you don't think I am."

"You have no cause to be afraid of me," he answered, and the silence fell once more.

Warns of Infantile Paralysis Danger During Early Fall

A warning to parents to take every precaution against infantile paralysis during the next several weeks was issued today by Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner.

He urged them to avoid taking children into crowded places as much as possible.

Explaining that early fall is the time when the disease is most likely to develop, Dr. Rehder said that the county has been fortunate so far in that not a single case has been reported this year.

In Detroit, however, numerous cases have been reported and several have also been recorded in Cleveland.

Most common symptoms, he said, is what appears to be a common cold, accompanied by restlessness, drowsiness, fever and a headache.

At the first sign of such symptoms, a physician should be consulted, Dr. Rehder said.

'FIELD OF FIRE'

Copper Roof Takes on Bright Hue Under Sun.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—(U.P.)—A copper roof on the new University of Utah field house looks like a field of fire when the sun shines on it from a certain angle.

Dean C. Pack, whose firm supplied the copper for the roofing, said it contained 59,400 square feet of the metal, in strips one foot wide. Placed end to end, the strips would extend over nearly 12 miles. Weighing 16,000 pounds, the copper is equal to that contained in approximately 1,175,500 pennies.

Constant spraying with a contact poison is necessary to keep nasturtiums, sweet peas, golden glow and other plants free from lice, but this is a simple matter if the lice are not allowed to become numerous.

TROPICS CALLED NO FOOD SOURCE

Professor Declares Equatorial Area Agriculturally Inferior to U. S. Prairies.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The widespread belief that tropic lands can supply the rest of the world with an abundant food supply is false, according to Dr. Nels A. Bengston, of the University of Nebraska, who is at Columbia university for the summer.

Equatorial districts, heavily covered with jungle, are agriculturally inferior to fertile prairies, Bengston said. The only tropic land which potentially is a good food producer is that situated on stream banks and in coastal districts, he said, while uplands generally have poor soils because of excess drainage caused by heavy rainfall.

"In nearly all parts of the world, forest soil is inferior to plains soil," Bengston said. "In the first place, the constant moist condition of the former causes the natural salts in the ground, necessary for successful farming, to drain away. The comparative dryness of plains soil prevents this from happening to such a large extent. Then, too, the top-soil is seldom as deep in forests as it is on prairies."

Bengston said one of the main causes of drainage in forest areas was the rotting of tree roots which leaves "a pathway" for moisture and air.

Another aspect which would retard tearing down of the jungles, Bengston said, was the mixed growth of trees which would make lumbering unprofitable.

NEW PEACH BIG AS GRAPEFRUIT

ATHENS, Ga.—(U.P.)—A new type peach as large as grapefruit and of excellent flavor has been developed by the horticultural department of the University of Georgia.

First shipments from a 750-tree orchard, laid out six years ago, were made to eastern markets and won instant favor.

CO-ED PICKED OFF CAMPUS TO PLAY MAJOR 'RAINS CAME' ROLE

Brenda Joyce, 19, laid aside her school books long enough to play one of the "juiciest" screen roles of the year when Twentieth Century-Fox picked her to play Fern Simon in Louis Bromfield's "The Rain Came," which has its premiere in Mansfield tomorrow night.

Never before has so important a role in so pretentious a production been given to a 100 per cent newcomer. Little Tommy Kelly of Brooklyn was chosen to play in a Mark Twain story, and several years ago Charlotte Henry came out of obscurity to play Alice In Wonderland, but never before has an entirely untrained, inexperienced newcomer been chosen to work on an even basis with the screen's biggest stars in a leading role.

Miss Joyce won the role of Fern after 58 other young women had tried out for it. "Won" is scarcely the word, since the lovely face of the University of California co-ed popped right out of the pages of a magazine at studio officials who were in despair over casting the role.

Producer Darryl Zannuck insisted on a girl who was entirely fresh, unaffected and without self-consciousness, yet with an intense eagerness for life. These qualities, he felt, were not ones that could be assumed. Either a girl had them or she didn't. In other words, he didn't want a great actress, he wanted a girl who could be herself and still be Fern.

Miss Joyce is a graduate of Los Angeles High school and last year spent one semester at the University of Southern California and three at the University of California in Los Angeles. Between school work she posed as a photographer's model, and it was one of these pictures in a magazine that caught the eye of a studio executive. She was, he decided, the answer to a talent scout's prayer.

On the first day before the cameras Director Clarence Brown set up a rule that Miss Joyce was not to see the "rushes" (picture footage made during the day) at the end of the day as other players are permitted to do. He was afraid that seeing herself on the screen would do something to that all-important quality of "unaffectedness."

Zannuck is so impressed with her work in "The Rains Came" that he has her under contract and she is studying dramatics under the Russian actress and teacher, Maria Ouspenskaya, who also plays a major role in the picture.

Probably no newcomer in pictures was ever put to so severe a test as Miss Joyce, for she is thrown constantly with such smooth performers as Myrna Loy, George Brent and Tyrone Power in her debut.

LUCAS—A group of about 50 friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Shafer recently for a shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shafer, who were married Aug. 13 in Kentucky. Before her marriage Mrs. Shafer was Miss Irene Yeager.

Doctor Waits 22 Years to Receive Pay For Care.

ELYRIA—(U.P.)—Dr. Austin S. McKitrick has had his faith renewed in the honesty of his fellow man.

Twenty-two years ago he cared for a boy injured in an automobile accident. The boy's father then was unable to pay.

The doctor recently received a check for $50 from the father, who apologized for the long delay, but said he was glad he finally could pay his bills.

BREAK RELATIONS

TOLEDO—(AP)—The Toledo and Detroit baseball clubs went their separate ways today, a working agreement between them canceled with yet another year to run. Officials agreed on the action "for the best interests of both clubs."

POSTPONE LEAGUE MATCHES

Matches in The News-Journal Class B golf league will be payed at 5 p. m. Friday instead of today. Postponement of the contests was announced yesterday to leave the course clear for the Ralph Guhldahl exhibition match.

IN THE Ruhl Book

GULDAHL, IN CITY, MADE JUMP FROM HIGH SCHOOL TO OPENS.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

RALPH GULDAHL, one of the "tops" in this game of golf, came to Mansfield last night.

He came from Zanesville, where he busted a course record yesterday with a sparkling 68, and today at 3 p. m. he is scheduled to tour the Possum Run course in an exhibition with Joe Mayer, Joe Kasper and Vin Malaska.

Guldahl's a big fellow, and a swell fellow to boot. He's had his share of hard knocks in golf, but he's on top of the heap now.

Big Ralph is an interesting conversationalist. Twenty-eight years of age, he started caddying when he was 11. That was down in Dallas, Texas.

"Whenever I had a chance I'd sneak onto the course late in the evenings and play a few holes," Guldahl said. "When not offered this chance, I played on baseball diamonds. There were three diamonds laid out in a row. Long holes were played by driving from the pitcher's mound in the third diamond. The spot where the moundsman took a toe-hold served as the cup. Short holes were played from diamond to diamond.

Guldahl made his first hole-in-one at Randall park, Dallas . . . on a 145-yard hole with a spademashie . . . He won his first tournament, a junior affair, which was supervised by "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper . . . Ralph was 13 then.

His second appearance in a tournament was made in a Dallas municipal tournament . . . His older brother, Howard, won first place with a 79 . . . Ralph followed with an 80 . . . "I'll never forget the wooden-shafted driver I won as second prize. I used the club for years afterward."

Guldahl won the Tension Park club title for several years . . . was elected captain of the Wilson high school team . . . Just 16, Ralph led his teammates to the state high school crown with a 65-71 . . . Opponents on Dallas high school teams were Gus Moreland, Ray Mangrum and "Spec" Goldman.

"I did not plan to go to college after graduation from high school, Guldahl said. "I wanted golf to be my life's vocation" . . . finished in a tie for 11th place in first major tournament, Texas Open . . . Denny Shute was the winner.

"Late in 1929, I qualified for the National Open . . . at Interlachen . . . That was Bobby Jones' "Grand Slam" year . . . It was Jones' last appearance in the Open and my first. . . . I was 18 then, the youngest player in the tournament." He tied for 41th place with 308.

Guldahl then shot a 66 on the first day of the St. Louis Open, but finished in a tie for 9th. . . . Started as a professional at Parksale, Dallas. . . . Had just enough money to buy his lunch for the Agua Caliente tournament . . . finished 12th and received $375, his first real money

First major victory was in Hollywood tournament . . . received $2,000 . . . Lost the Open title in 1933 by a stroke . . . Golf game fell apart . . . quit competition and joined automobile agency in California.

"With the exception of the golf I played at Oakland Hills in 1937 to win the championship, I can truthfully say that in this year's Open I shot some of the finest golf in my life from tee to green, missing only four fairways in the entire tournament . . . Putting, and putting only, cost me my chance at winning the title for the third year in a row.

"However, I have something to look forward to in 1940," Guldahl said. "The National Open will be played at Canterbury, in Cleveland, where I won the Western Open in 1937. I think my chances are good of winning there.

And, folks, Guldahl, a determined young man, is a good bet.

There will be four five-mile races, topped by the 15-mile, 30 lap feature for the Ohio dirt track championship.

Rams Rip College All-Stars

Coach Dutch Clark's Proteges Run Wild in Second Half to Win.

By LARRY HAUCK

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Affable Dutch Clark was the talk of the town today.

Cleveland football fans, long hungering for a snappy professional team with a crashing attack, saw the makings of their dream last night as the Clark-tutored Rams rolled over the Ohio college All-Stars, 28 to 0, in the state's football inaugural.

Score In Six Minutes.

The Rams, playing their first game under the former Portsmouth, (O.) Spartan star, got off to a spotty start. They scored in the first six minutes and then looked bad the remainder of the half.

But in the last two periods the pros ran and passed the collegians into submission, crossing the goal line three times and losing the ball once on the one-yard strip.

Statistics give a clear idea of the game's trend, the Rams collecting 16 first downs to three for the All-Stars and gaining 202 yards by rushing and 109 by passing to 62 and 6, respectively, for the losers.

The pros marched 47 yards for their early score. Johnny Drake plunging over from the three-yard line. Kelly Moan, of West Virginia, kicked the point.

The victors swept 72 yards for their second score early in the third period. The touchdown play covered 22 yards, Parker Hall pushing a pass over the line to Jim Benton, who lateraled to Corby Davis. Vic Spadaccini added the point.

A 70-yard advance on six plays brought the third score, Davis crossing the five and Spadaccini again kicking goal.

Bill McRaven dashed 34 yards to the 15 to set up the final score After Pat Howlett and Marty Slovak, of Toledo, picked up a couple yards, McRaven went over. Howlett added the point.

Get To 38.

The All-Stars got as far as the Rams' 38 in the fist period as the result of a slugging penalty that banished Drake from the game. In the third they took the ball on the 29 when Alex Shoenbaum, of Ohio State, blocked a Ram kick, but again the attack failed.

French Is Having Last Laugh Over That Spat With Hartnett

Chicago Pitcher Chalks Up 12th Win of Season By Beating Cardinals, 11-3.

By JUDSON BAILEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

LAUGHING LARRY FRENCH of the Chicago Cubs is having the last laugh over that spat he had with Manager Gabby Hartnett back in July.

Since he went over Hartnett's head to Owner Philip K. Wrigley and protested he wasn't getting enough work, the 30-year-old southpaw has won six games and lost one, putting him in a position for the best percentage record of his entire baseball career.

His 12th triumph of the season was an important 11-3 decision over the St Louis Cardinals yesterday, cutting the gap between Chicago and second place to 2½ games.

Spaces 10 Hits.

French spaced 10 hits, struck out seven batters and walked none. He hit a home run with one on to join in a 13-hit assault, which also included homers by Rip Russell, Bill Nicholson and Billy Herman.

The victory ended a three-game losing streak for the Cubs and added half a game to the margin of Cincinnati's National league leaders, who split a pair of extra-inning extravaganzas with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Five errors contributed to the Reds' loss of the first game, 5-4 in 11 innings They tightened up to give Paul Derringer perfect support in the nightcap and won 4-3 in the tenth when Bill Werber's grounder bounced over Arky Vaughan's head for a double, scoring Bill Myers. It was Derringer's 19th victory.

The New York Giants won their fifth in a row with a 16-hit 10-4 foray against the Boston Bees for Harry Gumbert's 14th victory of the year.

The Brooklyn Dodgers edged out the Phillies, 2-1, in a night game. Dixie Walker singled both Brooklyn runs across while Emmett Mueller's homer in the ninth robbed Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin of a shutout.

Joe Di Maggio got his 26th home run in the eighth inning to give the New York Yankees a 2-1 count over the Boston Red Sox and increase the champions' American league lead to 15½ games.

The game was a pitching duel between two veteran lefties, Vernon Gomez who gave six hits, and Bob Grove who gave seven. Four errors by the jittery Red Sox ruined Grove's chances.

Archie McKain shut out the Cleveland Indians 2-0, although giving nine hits to the five the Detroit Tigers culled from Al Milnar. One of the Detroit swats was a two-run homer by Rudy York.

11th for Rigney.

John Rigney chalked up his 11th straight victory and 14th of the season for the Chicago White Sox, 7-2, against the St. Louis Browns. He yielded just six hits and had the help of a three-run homer by Larry Rosenthal.

Dutch Leonard gained his 17th decision as the Washington Senators downed the Athletics, 6-3.

Musilles Score 29th Triumph

McKinley Fans 11 as Cigars Top Service Cabs, 5-1.

Victory No. 29 was securely fastened to the belts of the Musille Cigar softball representatives yesterday when they turned back the Service Cab team by a 5 to 1 margin in a seven-inning setto at Prospect park.

With Dale McKinley fanning 11 of the 25 batters who faced him, the Musille outfit pounded four markers across the plate in the last of the second to take a lead that was never threatened.

McKinley, who limited the Service, Cabs to four hits, encountered trouble in only one inning, the second, when they tallied their lone run.

Contra led the Cigars' eight-hit attack with a double and single. Woerth and Freiheit contributed two base knocks apiece to the Musille cause.

Braves Eliminated From Title Battle

Two Defeats By Findlay, 9-3 and 5-3, Knock Mansfield Out of Title Scramble.

AS FAR as the Braves are concerned, President Paul Shank of the Ohio State league can hang up the pennant on any rival flag pole he desires.

Mansfield was definitely eliminated from the torrid Ohio race last night when they dropped a pair of games to the pace-setting

Tyger Boss Has Sense of Humor, But Sked's No Laughing Matter

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

". . . then we face a little school from Massillon and follow with a 'breather' with Sandusky to prepare for the BIG GAME with Shelby."

This is the way Paul Snyder, new Mansfield high grid mentor, explained the 1939 schedule at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club the other noon.

Snyder, of course, did not mean to insinuate that Shelby would be a push-over. Far be it from the ex-Mt. Vernon coach to cast such reflections in the direction of Shelby as he has had too many unpleasant experiences with the Bordertown athletes in the past.

But his size-up of Massillon and Sandusky, two of the strongest teams on the Mansfield card, in this manner proves that the new tactician has a sense of humor.

The schedule is no laughing matter, though. Snyder will tell his listeners in a more serious mood.

Mansfield has a TOUGH schedule. Don't let anyone tell you differently, and it will take a GREAT Tyger team to do anything out of the ordinary against several of its foes.

So far developments on the practice field have been encouraging, but Snyder has been around too long to become over-enthusiastic this early.

"Sure, we're going to have a good football team," Snyder will tell you, "but that doesn't mean that we're going to go through the season undefeated."

There are too many "ifs" prevalent in this year's ball club. It should be better than the 1938 edition, those in a position to compare the two clubs contend, but the experience lost through graduation cannot be discounted in a comparison.

From the standpoint of fight and spirit, the 1939 eleven is superior to its predecessor, it is believed. There is a lot of ability in the ranks, probably more than 1938, and little difference in size.

The problem now is to weld the new, inexperienced material in with the remnants of last fall's club. Judging from the workouts, Snyder has succeeded well, but it might be better to delay the shower of orchids until the team has had its baptism.

Notable among the outstanding newcomers wearing Tyger livery are young chaps named Gene Miller and Dave Templeton, end and back, respectively. They promise to take up much of the slack lost at these positions through graduation.

Templeton, fresh from Baltimore, is a Johnny Hallabrin type of player. A good ball player in every respect, Dave also owns those rare qualities of leadership. Lack of an inspirational leader was a definite weakness, in the 1939 squad.

Mansfield inaugurates its season a week from Saturday on the home green against Akron West, and daily practice sessions should fit the Tygers for anything that the Cowboys can offer.

Harder Faces Tigers Today

Indian Ace, Bridges Tangle In Final Game.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— The Indians tottered on the brink of second division today as they met the Tigers, the club that's nipping at their heels.

Detroit turned back the Redskins yesterday, 2 to 0, and drew within a fraction of a point of a fourth-place tie.

Manager Oscar Vitt selected Mel Harder to pitch in the final game of the home stand. Tommy Bridges was due for the Bengals.

Rudy York's fourth-inning home run with Charley Gehringer on base proved the winning margin as Archie McKain shut out the Indians with nine hits.

Al Milnar gave up only five hits, but walked eight.

Cleveland's attack, paced by Oscar Grimes with a double and two singles, failed to function at opportune moments and 11 runners were left on base.

Mansfield Eliminated From Ohio State Loop Title Race

Findlay Oilers before a chilled crowd at the Fairground. The scores were 9 to 3 and 5 to 3.

The Braves still possess a remote chance to win a berth in the Shaughnessy playoff. Two games separate fifth-place Lima, winner over Tiffin, 18 to 1, and the cellar Braves.

Seven Games Behind.

Last night's defeats dropped the Braves seven games behind the Oilers. First place is unattainable as far as the Braves are concerned as they have only six more games on their schedule.

Two of the remaining six games will be staged in Findlay tonight, and the Braves will return to the Fairground Friday night for "The News-Journal Night" double-header, the first game being called at 7:45 p. m. Mansfield performs at Lima Saturday and returns to the home ballwick to conclude the season Sunday with a single game with Tiffin.

Findlay found the offerings of Howard Patterson to their liking in the first of two seven-inning games last night. They found the Ontario boy for 13 hits to win 9-3.

Barney Fletcher hurled the first game for the Oilers and pulled the "iron man" stunt by also going to the mound in the afterpiece, which he won, 5 to 3. The victories run Fletcher's string to 22 fo[illegible]ason.

Mansfield never was in the ball game in the first tilt. The Braves were held scoreless until the [illegible]en they scored three times to reduce Findlay's 7 to 0 advantage to four runs.

Manager Dewey Stover's men never threatened seriously outside of the inning in which they scored.

The defeat was the first in pro ball for Patterson, who won his first two starts for the Braves.

George Laurila took over the pitching chore in the second game, and, although he allowed only five hits, he again found it difficult to locate the plate.

Laurila issued six walks, but only two figured in the scoring. And the pair he gave up helped to win the ball game in the last inning.

Play reached the last inning with the score tied, 3 to 3. Cannon picked off a double, Poff sacrificed, Simon smacked a two-bagger and the latter scored on an infield out after Todhunter and Stephenson walked to fill the sacks.

Yields Eight Hits.

Fletcher hurled as well in the second game as he did in the first. He again gave up eight hits as the Braves scored once in the first, again in the third and finally in the fifth.

Wilbur's home run smack over the left field wall in the third was a highlight of the game.

Bob Schremser and Don Dudley, who hurls for the Mansfield Hi-Speeds, will get the pitching calls tonight in Findlay.

MAJOR ISSUES IN DEMAND AS MARKET RISES

Advances Despite Reports of Hitler's Plans to Absorb Poland.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Leading issues were in demand in today's stock market and moved ahead fractions to 2 points or more at their best.

Many gains were halved as trading slowed down after a fast opening and buying burst and some losers were in evidence.

Italian reports that Reichsfuehrer Hitler would rapidly absorb Poland, then sue Britain and France for peace with Premier Mussolini acting as mediator calmed some of the enthusiasm for stocks that would benefit more from war than from a genuine revival of business in this country.

U. S. government bonds sank at the opening but made a surprising comeback.

Ahead the greater part of the day were, Great Northern, New York Central, Anaconda, American Smelting, Youngstown, Montgomery Ward, Sperry, Westinghouse Electric, Du Pont, Johns-Manville, U. S. Gypsum, Owens-Illinois, Union Bag and Paper and Philip Morris.

In the backward class were Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Eastman Kodak, Union Carbide, and General Electric Higher in the curb were Aluminum Co., Newmont and Jones & Laughlin.

As far as the business picture was concerned analysts pointed out that the recent rise in the market was a restoration of the August lag and while due in part to "war baby" buying, it might very reasonably forecast a new increase in industrial activity.

The overnight business reviews were noted in board rooms.

Electric Power production for the week ended Sept. 2, gained a little less than seasonally over the preceding week, but was 9.7 per cent above the 1938 comparative.

The petitions continued to flood the election board since candidates must file by 6:30 p. m. Friday to get their names on the ballot.

Seventeen of the new petitions were for county and township board of education posts, while the others were for township trustee and clerk and village offices.

A slate of 11 candidates for Plymouth village offices was filed in one petition, making the second for that village.

Plymouth Independents File.

Snyder, Springfield township; Mrs. Vonnie B. Oswalt, Thomas Crabbe and Ozra Ferrell, Union rural board; Mark H. Myers, Shelby board; O. L. Taylor and Roy J. Johnson, Plymouth; M. E. Williams, Cass township; and W. L. Garber, Bellville; Charles F. Laser and Lester Lantz, Union rural; Charles Biglin and Henry Scherer, Sharon township.

Book of the Week

"SAILOR OFF THE BREMEN," by Irwin Shaw; (Random: $2).

PUBLISHER'S technique in a certain part of the magazine field has created a fairly steady market for slick, sharp little smackover pieces which are in effect merely an elaborated anecdote told in simple declarative sentences, beginning with a smart "lead," and ending with a snapper. Or else not ending at all, but merely stopping in such a way that the reader's mental sacrum is thrown out of place.

Certain book publishers gather these bits into books and at least in theory sell the books. Some have been very good, too. Richard Lockridge is adept at making this sort of story, and barring the inevitable monotony which comes from reading a couple of dozen pieces in the same mould, the collections of his yarns about the Norths have made good reading.

Latest of these books is published this week under the title of the lead story—"Sailor Off the Bremen." Irwin Shaw is the author, and his distinguishing feature seems to be an ability to try different fields instead of cultivating one exclusively. But he has another feature less admirable in a literary way, and that is a willingness to use racial and political prejudices in the production of his effects.

In "Sailor Off the Bremen," for example, Mr. Shaw tells of a young Communist who helped "demonstrate" aboard the Bremen, who was beaten badly for it, and who later was "revenged" by his football-playing brother. This brother used his sister-in-law as a decoy, trapped the young sailor who did the beating, beat him in turn and very seriously. There is drama by the bushel, suspense, color and whatnot in the piece. But Mr. Shaw was not content to leave its values alone.

It is perfectly obvious that merely because the demonstrators on the Bremen were Communists, the fact that they had no business on the ship is not changed. The upstanding ship's officer who helped trap the young sailor is of course a heroic Communist, and the final victim is of course a Nazi.

The best of the lot is the one that Mr. Shaw probably knew least about—the piece about the pogrom in Kiev. This time there is little waste motion, and until the end is reached the values seem just. Then, again as if for effect, Mr. Shaw drags in the Red army as a kind of collective hero.

He makes it very obvious that when the Whites controlled Kiev the Jews suffered, and almost ignores the corollary that when the Reds took the city over the Whites were murdered and raped with equal gusto.—By J. S.

Gas and Stomach Distresses Took Joy Out of Her Meals

Shauck, Ohio, lady now tells how Vendol soon had her eating every bite with relish, and feels better than in years.

MRS. DEMMA F. FELIX

There is only one way for you to find out whether Vendol will help you as much as it has helped hundreds of men and women right here in our home town, and that is, try Vendol and see for yourself what it does. It has been proven however, that nearly everyone who gives this great Root, Herb, and Alkaline medicine a fair trial is well pleased with results and day after day responsible people come to General Drug Store and tell the Vendol Man about the wonderful relief it has given. Such was the case of Mrs. Demma F. Felix, residing at Shauck, 14 miles from Mansfield, who says:

"It was certainly discouraging to be hungry, eat a hearty meal, and soon thereafter feel your stomach grumbling, to feel so full and bloated you could hardly get your breath. It just took all the joy out of my meals.

"This gas was so bad sometimes that it made my stomach feel swollen, would keep me awake, and I'd feel as though I were smothering. Then too, I often felt dizzy, spots danced before my eyes, my tongue was coated, and I'd awaken with a bad taste in my mouth and feeling tired, listless, and nervous.

"A few weeks ago I began taking Vendol, and the first dose started my bowels acting, and soon gave the grandest relief I'd known from constipation, and now I never have indigestion, gas, sourness, or shortness of breath as I used to. It's simply grand to sit down to a tasty meal, eat my fill, and never suffer afterwards. I can eat whatever I like and not be kept awake by gas, then get up in the morning without a headache or dizzy feeling, and really feel refreshed after a good night's rest. I feel wonderful since taking Vendol and am sure this great medicine will help everyone with the same troubles."

All druggists sell Vendol so it is not difficult to get, and the Vendol Man in person invites everyone to call at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & Fourth Sts., and let him explain all about this great Root, Herb, and Alkaline medicine. There is no charge, so don't delay.

COTTON DEMAND FOUND ON RISE

National Council Believes Efforts to Push Product Bearing Fruit

COLUMBIA, S. C.—(U.P.)—King Cotton is not dead—merely sleeping, believes Rhea Blake, secretary of the National Cotton Council.

"Cotton was king for so long that those who depended upon it for a living just sat back and let events take their own course," Blake said. "But King Cotton is now in the same fix as most of the other kings of today. Cotton consumption is definitely on the decline here and abroad and has been for some time. It is a sick industry."

However, he said, there is some encouragement. The lowest world price of cotton—in terms of the gold dollar—in history, the largest surplus in history, and the continued falling off of consumption have caused cotton men to wake up.

The National Cotton Council, whose purpose is "to increase the domestic and foreign consumption of cotton, cotton seed and the products thereof," is working hard and its efforts are bearing fruit, Blake said.

"Already we have noticed the increase in consumer demand for cotton products. We have joined with the National Textile Institute in the promotion of National Cotton week, and the last one was the greatest ever held."

The council, which was organized in Mississippi and now represents 19 states, still has one great need, Blake said.

"We have always had a production and shipping department, but what we need are sales promotion, advertising and research departments," he said.

"No big industry can operate without them."

MUSIC TONIC

Soothes Desire For Drugs, Hospital Believes.

FORT WORTH, Tex. — (U.P.) — Music has power to soother human desire for narcotics, officials of the U. S. Public Health Service hospital here believe.

To aid the 300 patients at the institution, Dr. W. F. Ossenfort, chief medical officer, announced, the hospital has ordered an "adequate supply of musical instruments including brass, reed and string types."

The civil service commission had advertised a competitive examination for a musical director for the hospital.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

BRITISH RANGE FOR BOMBERS 3,240 MILES

Seven-Year Development Behind Wellington Super War Craft.

LONDON—(U.P.)—Bombers capable of carrying a war-load from a London airdrome to any point in Europe except the eastern half of European Russia and of returning to their starting point without intermediate landing are in large production for the British royal air force.

Alongside the Brooklands automobile race track stands a factory expanded to many times its former productive capacity and fully equipped with the most modern plant and machinery, which is given over to manufacture of the Vickers Wellington twin-engined monoplane, a craft of "geodetic" construction credited by the air ministry with a range in still air, carrying military load, of 3,240 miles.

Substantial numbers of these formidable planes are already in service, and rate of output is constantly accelerated.

Production Figures Vague.

Maintenance of the present rate of output requires issue from the factory's "finished" stores each week of 1,500,000 fittings a week, excluding such details as bolts, nuts and washers. Goods aggregate 150 tons a day. In the past the daily total was only about six tons.

T. C. L. Westbrook, works superintendent, said that the factory is 20 weeks ahead of a program outlined more than two years ago before a single Wellington had been made.

The Wellington is the second "all geodetic" plane to go into mass production. Invented by B. N. Wallis, and developed by him in conjunction with the Vickers company over the past seven years, geodetic construction is aimed to reduce structural weight without loss of strength.

Performance of the Wellington bomber, which is powered with two Bristol Pegasus XVIII two-speed supercharger air-cooled radial engines, includes maximum speed in level flight of 265 miles an hour at a height of 17,000 feet, according to new figures just revealed by the air ministry.

Later models, Wellington II and III, have more powerful engines, and their performance in some respects is considerably better. Normal cruising speed of the No. 1 model is 215 m. p. h. at 15,000 feet. The maximum range of 3,240 miles, using the full fuel capacity of 1,000 imperial gallons, is obtained at economical cruising speed of 180 m. p. h. Service "ceiling" is 26,300 feet.

Normal loaded weight of the plane is 24,850 pounds—a little more than 11 tons, but it takes off easily with more than 27,000 pounds. Its useful load is considered exceptionally high, a quality of the modern British weight-carrying bomber which raises the striking power of the royal air force in terms of weight of bombs carried per man of the flying personnel.

There are three gun stations, one of them forward, one amidships and one in the tail aft of the tailfin and rudder. Despite its size, the craft is easy to maneuver.

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1939

Education in neutrality is among the things that have apparently been overlooked in this country.

Look again at the persistent horn-honker and you will find he has very much the appearance you would expect.

A recent German immigrant wants to know why Hitler should want to "go to war and take in a lot more people to starve them."

Poland Cannot Win Alone

EVENTS of the few days in which Hitler's war against Poland has been in progress have demonstrated that, left to its own military devices, Poland is unable to cope successfully against Germany's powerful war machine.

Considering only this phase of the situation that has developed in Europe, there has been little doubt in the mind of any informed person that Hitler would be able to muster sufficient force to seize Danzig, reclaim the Corridor, and eventually subdue all of Poland.

Such an outcome, however, could be as well forecast in connection with any of the smaller countries of Europe, if these were left to protect themselves against armed aggression by a strong military power, and it may be doubted if even France would be able of itself to win a war against Germany.

The dependence of any nation on mutual guarantees of military aid in the event of war has long been recognized and it was only upon such pledges from Great Britain and France that Poland was placed in position to even temporarily defy the demands of Hitler for the return of Danzig and the Corridor to the German reich.

Whether these two strong allies can act with sufficient speed and effect to prevent the complete collapse of Polish resistance is still problematical, as the invading hordes of Hitler continue their rapid advances toward Warsaw.

It cannot be imagined, however, that the conquering of Poland will mark the end of hostilities, or that France and Great Britain will be willing that Hitler make peace terms on the basis of having occupied the territory to which he makes claim.

Meanwhile the United States looks on as an interested neutral, anxiously awaiting the outcome and already noticing the effects of a war from which it is as far removed as it was in 1914 when the World war was in its early stages.

As airplanes pass peacefully over Mansfield the thought occurs of how different it would be if they were dropping bombs.

Germany's Drastic Radio Ban

NOTHING more remarkable has come out of Germany recently than the drastic radio restrictions. It has been known for some time that Germans were expected not to listen to foreign broadcasts, and their radio sets were limited to a short range. But the present rules go far beyond that.

"Every word coming from a foreign radio station is a lie," says an official announcement in Berlin. "Listening to broadcasts by foreign stations is forbidden. Violations are punishable by penitentiary terms. Lighter violations are punishable by imprisonment as well as confiscation of receiving sets. The spreading of news from foreign broadcasts is punishable by penitentiary terms, while more serious violations are punishable by death."

The democracies, even when at war, do not consider it necessary to lay down such rules. Almost the whole outer world listens to German broadcasts.

The German people themselves must be wondering why this prohibition is necessary. Recent accounts from American correspondents indicate that they are increasingly troubled about the situation and eager to know what the rest of the world thinks. They cannot be bottled up forever.

"I am willing to be neutral in act, and even in word," says a reader, "if it will do any good. But my thoughts are free, and I'm doing a lot of thinking."

Practical Student Aid

THE WILL ROGERS Memorial Scholarship Fund commission has made allotments totaling $310,000 to three universities. The University of California at Los Angeles will receive $125,000; the University of Oklahoma, $125,000, and the University of Texas, $60,000.

These three were chosen because Will Rogers was thought to have had the greatest personal interest in the states in which they are located.

It may seem odd to grant educational scholarships in the name of Will Rogers, who laid no claim to higher education and always maintained that he knew only "what he read in the papers." Yet Will was too intelligent to belittle education, and he was too fond of young people to withhold from them anything that might benefit them. It may be taken for granted that he would be glad to have any of them helped to a better education with funds raised in tribute to him.

Incidentally, not all the money allotted will be used for outright scholarships. In the California institution, at least, some of it will provide a fund for the purchase of eyeglasses, medicines, hearing aids, and other supplies and equipment for financially needy students who are also physically handicapped.

At least a few people are consoling themselves by the thought that April is the month in which the United States usually gets into war.

Influencing Law Makers

ORGANIZED religion has an inalienable right to concern itself with legislation, but should do so through the social education of its members and not by direct pressure on legislators. That was the substance of a talk given by a churchman before an audience of Catholics, Protestants and Jews at the Institute of Human Relations at Williamstown, Mass.

"If the church becomes a pressure group," the speaker said, "and by the usual methods of political action secures the enactment of certain laws, it may succeed in accomplishing what it seeks and yet find that it has paid too high a price for its success."

Part of the price, no doubt, would be the weakening of democracy itself. Too many pressure groups in recent years have been trying to influence legislation, and too often they have been successful. Some of them may be altruistic and work only for what they consider the good of the community, state or nation. But even their success may be a peril to democracy, for it encourages similar pressure from other groups with selfish motives.

"REVIEW OF THE WEEK"

Listen, World!

You Are Not Alone.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

MIGHTY HARD these days to feel safe or self-sufficient, isn't it?

Time was when a man could feel fairly sure of himself and his place in life, if he lived in peace and did his decent duty. But nowadays personal effort doesn't seem to count.

Overnight, life has grown too fast, too big, too ruthless for the average Little Man. He isn't smart enough, quick or cruel enough. He doesn't matter.

You have moments of actual sickness, thinking how little YOU matter . . . rebelling against this insignificance which has been thrust upon you . . . moments of stark panic when you realize how weak and ignorant and helpless you are. You try to numb yourself with constant action, constant noise. Perhaps you're one of those people who turn on the radio the instant they enter the house—aren't comfortable unless you hear it blaring in the distance? Or who have to be "going somewhere, doing something" every night . . . calling up The Gang for poker or bridge, going to a movie . . .

Chances are you've never stopped to think what's behind your restlessness. Panic's behind it. Rebellion's behind it. YOU DON'T DARE FACE YOUR OWN SENSE OF FUTILITY. IF YOU HAD TO STAY ALONE IN A QUIET ROOM, YOU'D GO MAD AT THE THOUGHT OF YOUR OWN HELPLESSNESS.

BUT you're not helpless . . . you're not futile. You're not an insignificant cog, hopelessly limited by your own weakness and ignorance. You're part of the greatest Going Business on earth . . . you have power that makes Messrs. Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini look like a bunch of nickel squirt-guns. And, through your partner, you have first mortgage on all beauty and wonder, wisdom and force in the universe.

"But I have no partner!" you say. "I haven't even a steady job!"

YES, YOU HAVE. GOD IS YOUR PARTNER . . . LIFE IS YOUR STEADY JOB.

Don't ask me what God is like. I don't know. Nobody knows. But I do know that He is the First Cause and the Last Answer . . . that He throbs and glows and reaches out in every living thing . . . and that YOU and I are part of him.

I am not "talking religion" now. I am stating the simple truth which even I, with my pitifully dull comprehension, can see proved all around me, every instant of the day. You and I may be limited but God is not limited. There is no end to His energy and ingenuity. Nothing stops God. Nothing discourages Him.

All the machines on earth, all the muddled, vicious systems, cannot make Him feel lost or insignificant. He was here before it all started. He will be here when it has all ended . . . with new world's looped about His mighty breast in a rope of stars.

YOU AND I ARE PART OF HIM. WE ARE NOT ONLY PART OF HIS WORKS . . . WE ARE PART OF THAT FUNDAMENTAL FORCE WHICH PRODUCED THOSE WORKS . . . WE SHARE HIS DREAMS AND HIS DIVINITY.

We are part of Him. There is the cure for all your fear and discouragement . . . your ignorance . . . your sense of futility. There is your answer to Dictators and Machines and blundering Systems.

If you were doing life on your own, you might well feel helpless and hopeless. But you aren't! You are doing life with God. He is not a religious creed . . . nor a vague, mystical hope. HE IS A LIVING ENTITY, WHOSE WARMTH YOU CAN FEEL . . . WHOSE STRIDE YOU CAN WATCH . . . WHOSE INFINITE VARIETY LIES READY FOR YOUR EXPLORATION . . . WHOSE INDOMITABLE WILL AND IMMORTAL PURPOSE YOU SHARE.

Do not turn on your radio to keep away your loneliness . . . TURN ON GOD. Wherever your eye falls, there He is. Do not go to a movie to give yourself the vicarious thrill of being powerful and important . . . GO TO GOD AND GET THE REAL STUFF!

Over the drabness of your days, over the despair of your nights, hang these words—and flame with their power and promise—"THE ETERNAL GOD IS THY REFUGE, AND UNDERNEATH ARE THE EVERLASTING ARMS!"

(Copyright, 1939)

Timely Editorial

More Than Equal Rights.

Many, if not most, newspaper readers will agree that the demand of a Connecticut labor union that women workers in a certain large industry be given ten minutes to wash up before closing time—twice as much as the men—ought to be granted.

Almost any energetic male can wash the worst of factory grime from his face and hands in five minutes, but the women—God bless 'em—need at least five minutes more to rouge the lips and powder the nose.

Their request seems to be reasonable, and yet it is plea for extraordinary privilege: in a sense of confession that the women need special consideration, such as was never asked or expected by pioneer campaigners for equal rights for women. Susan B. Anthony's well remembered slogan was: "Men, their rights and nothing more; women, their rights and nothing less."—Toledo Blade.

Hints on Etiquette.

Playing fair in all games in which you may take part, is one phase of good manners. You owe consideration to your opponents as well as to your teammates, and a victory won by questionable means is no victory. It shows you are ill-bred as well as unscrupulous.

3. A chest or trunk usually made to hold money or other valuables.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—It may help to calm your nerves to remember that with the possible exception of religion, more wars have been fought over gaining or preserving corridors to the sea than over any other cause. And every time such wars arise, they are accompanied by heart-rending stories of the frightful injustice of denying or taking away from a nation its access to the sea. That is one of Poland's arguments now.

Probably the two outstanding examples of nations troubled over rights to the sea are two nations deeply involved in the present crisis—Russia and Germany. Neither has a "corridor to the sea" it considers satisfactory. And the nation that has stood in their way these many years is also involved in the present crisis—England.

It Has Happened Here.

JAPAN also has blocked Russia from an "all-weather" seaport on the Pacific. Wars in the Balkans without number were fought over Serbia's efforts to get access to the sea. She never did get there until after the World war when she was merged into Yugoslavia and given frontage on the Adriatic. Even in our own hemisphere Bolivia has fought Peru and Chile repeatedly to get a port on the Pacific, all to no avail. Her recent war with Paraguay was in part an effort to get out to the Atlantic by obtaining more extensive rights on the Parana river.

Hitler asked France how she would feel if some nation demanded a corridor through her country to Marseille on the Mediterranean. That would split France in two, just as Germany is split by the Polish corridor. Would France like it? Hitler asked in his letter to Daladier.

He might have made it even more pointed if he had called attention to how hard Germany has struggled for some place on the Atlantic she could call her own. It isn't by accident that England has kept Germany from overpowering France all these years since Germany has become a big nation. So long as Germany is denied an Atlantic sea base, the British fleet can keep Germany bottled up in the Baltic and North sea. At one time England considered allowing Germany a naval base on the Atlantic shoulder of Africa, but the steady growth of the German navy in the early years of this century caused England to change her mind.

Turkey Holds a Key.

THE same British cork that bottles Germany in the Baltic also bottles Russia there. In late years Russia has been attempting to open a port on her ice-bound Arctic coast but with limited success.

For generations Russia has tried to break through the Balkans to get a front on the Mediterranean but England has fought or otherwise maneuvered her out of it. The current danger of Germany getting an outlet through the Balkans precipitated the frantic British and French effort to line Turkey up on their side. Turkey controls the Dardanelles, the only outlet from the Black sea, either for an eastward marching Germany or a southward marching Russia.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Home is where you hang your hat if you write for a newspaper in New York, and home tonight is an oak-panelled cellar two flights beneath a great New York hotel. . . . You get down here by way of a narrow, winding stairway—so narrow that it is all you can do to squeeze through, if you are as rotund as my host, and so winding that no sober person could wind through without wanting to shake hands as he passed himself on the curves. That's going down, remember—coming back is two other guys.

I came down here because in New York it is very hot, and down here the temperature hangs at an even 68 every day in the year, and because an atmosphere like this is conductive to good fellowship. And also because I am a studious young man on the scholarly side, and I never like to pass up a chance to learn something.

And so tonight I'm learning about bottles and labels, and contents. This is an underground cavern crammed with more than $60,000 worth of spirits. Bonded spirits. . . . Some of it is from France. . . . Some from the Island of Samos, within a prune-pit's toss of the city of Athens, Greece. And some of it is from the bonny, bonny heathered highlands of Scotland.

WE ARE not on the Gold standard, but here is hoarded gold that doesn't have to be declared to the government. . . . I do not mean figurative gold—but the actual metal. . . . It is in fine, minute flakes . . . it is in bottles of liqueur, heavy, syrup liqueur, which is expensive, but rich, and the gold don't hurt you at all. . . . Gold doesn't rust. Why they put it into the liqueur I am unable to state, but it certainly looks pretty when you shake it.

On two tiers of shelves are 17 varieties of rum. . . . Rum from the sugar cane plantations of the West Indies. . . . Rum from India—actually, rum from India. . . . There are Chinese rich wines, and Spanish Maderas, and Italian table wines. . . . There is brandy—rather, I should say there are brandies. . . . Perhaps 20 varieties of brandy, mostly from France.

My host's name is George, same as mine. But there the similarity ends, because he owns a hotel and a cellar, and I own the shirt on my back.

NOW here is a mighty pretty bottle," intones George, "but I wouldn't touch it if you paid me to touch it." He picked up a triangular-shaped little affair from Russia that contained a concoction brewed from mare's milk. . . . "And this is from Stockholm." . . . It was a Swedish bolt of white lightning. . . . You know, a thing like that can keep up only so long, and then you begin to see two of everything. . . . Now don't get me wrong. Not a cork was pulled. . . . I wouldn't stand for it. . . . I went down there to cool off, not to wreck my health. . . . But afterwhile I said, "George, let's see if we can find that crooked stairway," and he said, "George, you're looking right at it," and I said, "You got me down here, now you've got to get me out," . . . And so he said, "Okay, but let's have a few of these."

Host George then grabbed off a half dozen small bottles, wrapped them up, and handed them to me. . . . Now as I said awhile ago, don't get me wrong. . . . It wasn't what you think at all. It was carbonated water, with a pretty little hotel seal on the bottle. . . . Many hotels bottle their own water. . . . That's the soda you pay 40 cents a gill for, in case that will make it taste any better the next time you order some. But mine didn't do me any good at all. I went to sleep in the cab on the way home, and the cabby and the bottles drove off without me.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Sept. 7, 1919.

Mansfield News resumed issuing Sunday paper, which had been discontinued April 15, 1900.

Delegation of Mansfield Knights Templar left for Philadelphia to attend triennial conclave.

"Be temperate in all things," admonished John B. Williams, Vennum avenue, on occasion of ninetieth birthday anniversary.

Season closed at Luna and Casino parks.

George J. Lincer, 85, died.

Capt. Robert W. Stephenson was speaker at memorial service held at First Presbyterian church.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Sept 7, 1934.

Lloyd Utz, railroad detective, dropped dead while attempting to arrest coal thieves.

James W. McPherren, retired city fireman, died at General hospital.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hetler, Springmill-Lexington road.

Carl Wehinger, Mansfield, and Miss Mary Leppert, Crestline, were married at that place.

Boyd Crail, 72 Prospect, went to Columbus to enter business college.

Garden clubs held an informal flower show at the home of Mrs. L. W. Olson.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On September 7, 1916, the treaty between the United States and Denmark for the purchase of the Danish West Indies for $25,000,000 was ratified by the United States senate. These were renamed the Virgin Islands.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—A black cat has become the symbol of new and warmer Anglo-American relations. When the now-famous feline was taken into the arms of the new British ambassador, Lord Lothian, he inaugurated a change which may profoundly affect U. S. attitude toward the present war.

Lothian emerged from the White House after presenting his credentials to Roosevelt. Cameramen were waiting. One of them held a black cat, captured on the White House grounds. They had heard that "this guy Lothian" was a good fellow, and they wanted to test him.

They asked him to pose with the cat in his arms. If they had asked his predecessor, giant, gangling Sir Ronald Lindsay, the answer would have been a disdainful "No." But Lothian smiled, put the cat on his shoulder, and provided a cameraman's holiday.

There was no clowning, and Lothian lost no dignity, but he made a hit with the photographers, and they made a picture that was seen by millions. The cat was promptly dubbed "Crisis."

The British embassy has long needed an improvement in press relations. British newsmen covering Washington have complained to London that every move here gets poor play—sometimes very bad play. And they pointed to the aloofness and lack of common touch shown by the embassy under Lindsay.

This is now changing, and it may even be that the U. S. will be warmed to a more strongly pro-British attitude by one diplomat, who made his Washington debut with a black cat act.

Spanish Cotton.

THE state department will not admit it yet, but information has leaked back from Madrid strongly indicating that the quarter of a million bales of cotton which the Export-Import Bank is financing for General Franco are being shipped on to Germany.

Cotton is one of the most important raw materials needed by Hitler in wartime, and several members of the Roosevelt cabinet—chiefly Morganthau and Ickes—vigorously opposed the Spanish credit, pointing out that Franco was merely a blind for Hitler.

However, those in the state department who have fought secretly for Franco since the start of his career, were able to put the deal across—to the tune of $13,000,000. Interesting thing to watch will be whether the state department acts to shut off the undelivered portion of the cotton shipments to Franco.

Note—One reason Hitler would like to have Italy remain on the side-lines is the fact that a neutral Italy would prove an excellent channel for receiving war supplies.

War Surprise.

THERE was one big difference between the outbreak of this war and that of 1914—the state department was thoroughly aware that it was coming. Many newspapers, most of congress, and various other observers could not believe that war was just around the corner, but the state department reported to Roosevelt, as early as mid-summer, that war looked almost certain.

Contrast this with the message sent by American Ambassador Gerard from Berlin on July 27, 1914: "I have reason to believe matters will be arranged without a general European war."

Next day, July 28, 1914, Austria declared war on Serbia.

Political Whirl.

BLANKED out by the European storm, was one of the most significant political upsets in recent Southern history. In Mississippi's governorship race, Paul Johnson, Roosevelt-Democrat backed by Senator Bilbo, soundly trounced ex-Governor Mike Conner, anti-New Deal pal of Senator Pat Harrison.

Results are sure to be far-reaching. Harrison's long bossdom of the state will be cracked, the 1940 delegation will be dominated by Bilbo, while red-headed Mrs. Ellen Woodward, of the Social Security board, is headed for plenty of trouble from the irate Bilbo.

Despite the Hatch act, barring political activity, and her professed close friendship to the White House, she quietly slipped down to her home state and pulled campaign wires for Harrison and Conner . . . Secretary Harry Hopkins has been assured by Mayo doctors there is nothing organically wrong with him, but due to his previous abdominal operation he is not absorbing nutrition and will have to subsist on a special diet to regain weight and strength . . . Important domestic appointment was Secretary Ickes' naming of Irving Brant, brilliant St. Louis editor, as Co-ordinator of Wildlife. A militant conservationist, Brant's selection spells tough times for huntsmen.

"How They Grew."

STATE DEPARTMENT wits have coined a song-title at the expense of Joseph C. Grew, grizzled U. S. ambassador to Japan, who is now giving Mr. Hull able advice on Far Eastern affairs. The title is: "Three Little Daughters and How They Grew."

Here are the daughters:

1. Lilla Cabot Grew to be Mrs. Jay Pierrepont Moffat, wife of the astute chief of the European division.

2. Anita Clark Grew to be Mrs. Robert English, wife of the third secretary and consul of the U. S. legation in Ottawa.

3. Elizabeth Sturgis Grew to be Mrs. Cecil Burton Lyon, wife of the third secretary of the U. S. embassy in Santiago, Chile.

Grew himself is a Harvard graduate. So are all three of the gentlemen who married his daughters. Each daughter has two children, each born in a different conuntry. The six little Grews were born in Switzerland, United States, France, Hungary, China, and Japan.

The entire group got together for a reunion last week in Hancock, N. H. Arriving from Tokyo, Ottawa, Santiago and Washington they could have had a fulsome discussion of international affairs, but they probably talked babies and illnesses and the servant problem.

Note—When her father was Ambassador to Turkey, Anita Grew swam the Hellespont.

Song of the Lark

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THIS MORNING I heard a meadow lark sing, three different times, at the far end of our lawn. For nearly eight weeks their voices have been silent. Occasionally, during this time, I have seen them in flock of three or four, chirping very low, perhaps to keep together. Often I have caught a glimpse of them in the meadow grass. They fly up rapidly at an approaching step. But this morning I was delighted to hear that liquid note that brought the sweet memory of spring and early summer, of roses and apple blossoms, of planting time and that warm May wind that gently rocks the nesting birds.

Now that strange flutelike tone has floated over early autumn fields of seared grass and parched earth. But wait three weeks or so until fall rains come and green up the drab brown, dusty countryside; until streams flow again over their lowly beds. Then from every little hollow, hidden among the rioting autumn colors, will come the welcome cheerful flood of song.

Often as a boy, winding my way to country school, I would stop and listen to the lark and wish my lot were that of the plowman, working in the dewy field where all day long the mild sun would shine, and cool winds would blow and that bewitching song forever near. Not every morning did I reach the schoolhouse door at the appointed hour, but sometimes came in tardily after the devotions and singing were over. Sometimes I lost my recess or a portion of my lunch hour, but even then I somehow figured it was worth it, for when all had gone out to play and quiet reigned, I could sit and live over again the memories of the lovely, song-filled morning.

Sometimes I have heard the larks in late October, from sheltered furrows and woodland thickets, but like the cricket and the katydid, the song was not so jubilant and spontaneous as during the warmth of the earlier season. Even when winter comes some larks remain about the thickest tufts of meadow grass. They squat alone, close to the frozen earth, and snows and winter blizzards cover them, or freeze them in. Often I have found them struggling weakly after an ice storm, or frozen solidly within an ice sheet, and I am always saddened and regret the passing of the lovely song. Perhaps the note of the meadow lark is sweeter and more appealing because it comes safely through the winter season.

NAZI TROOPS 20 MILES FROM WARSAW, CLAIM

German Army Predicting Quick Fall of City; Holds Poles' Defense Plans.

their big Westerplatte ammunition stores, was said to have been allayed.

Holds Defense Plans.

It was authoritatively asserted that the accelerated speed, observable since Monday, with which German armies have been driving through Poland, was due to the entire strategic defense plan of the Poles having fallen into German hands.

Among the booty found when one entire Polish division surrendered, said a German informant, was an iron strong box, which contained plans for Poland's defense in minute detail.

The Germans were surprised, the informant related, when the Poles did not alter their strategy.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, chief of the air force, at 1:45 p. m. (7:45 a. m. EST) issued an order of the day congratulating the air force on its victory in the east.

His order reads: "Soldiers of the air force, after quick, annihilating blows, mastery of the air in the east is yours.

Praises Activities.

"No enemy plane was able to touch the defense of German air space. You played an exceptional part in the advance of the German army by your faithful co-operation and quick, determined readiness to assume your share of the risks.

"You have a right to be proud of your success. I thank you, and with me the German people who now more than ever look upon their air force with unshakable confidence. Our Fuehrer and Supreme Commander is with you on the eastern front. Under his eyes —forward."

Talking with military experts, one gained the impression that German strategy had created three big vises closing in on the Poles.

First, Poznan was encircled so that it now is held by gigantic pinchers which cut it off from Gdynia and the south.

No direct attack except by bombers, concentrating on military objectives, is being made on Warsaw, but again German troops were trying to create a vise in which they can hold the capital.

The strategy seems to be to cut each of these centers off from all supplies, then press the jaws of the vice closer and closer in the hope of making the enemy capitulate without making necessary too much destruction.

Krakow also seems to have fallen by these tactics. Not even the Vistula bridges were destroyed before Krakow was taken.

The German naval supreme command, once again in the most emphatic terms, denied that any German craft had anything to do with the sinking of the British liner Athenia.

Every German naval craft, it is pointed out, has the strictest orders to proceed only in accordance with the practices of international law.

At Dusseldorf and Cologne, returning travelers report, there have been several alarms about approaching enemy planes, but the population was permitted to leave their anti-aircraft shelters soon and no planes appeared.

With Adolf Hitler held up before them as a soldier's soldier, German troops were spurred toward swift conclusion of the Polish campaign before any British-French offensive could develop on the western front.

DNB, official German news agency, declared that occupation of Silesian industrial areas had destroyed the basis of Poland's war industry.

The Germans now control all Poland's heavy industry, zinc and lead production, 95 per cent of the coal production and 50 per cent of the nitrates, the agency said.

Berlin received reports that the Polish government had moved to Lublin, about 100 miles southeast of Warsaw, and military quarters predicted after the "inevitable occupation of Warsaw, Lublin soon would be within cannon range.

The German big guns were being dragged eastword by caterpillar trucks over the rough Polish roads.

The supreme army command announced that its force from the north had reached Pultusk on the Narew river and that the Polish army continued a hurried retreat.

The communique said the "Ninth and 27th Polish divisions, the famous Pomorska cavalry brigade, the eithth tank battalion and the first and second rifle battilions" had been completely wiped out by casualities or capture.

GALION WOMAN HURT IN CRASH

Injured as Car Turns Over After Hitting Truck.

A Galion woman was injured slightly in an auto-truck accident at 5:30 p. m. Wednesday on route 30-N, two miles east of Crestline.

Mrs. Jennie Prynn, 60, received cuts on the left leg when a car driven by her husband, William Prynn, jr., 65, turned over after colliding with a truck and trailer driven by J. E. Hoffman, 34, of Jeromesville, state highway patrolmen reported.

Both the car and truck were traveling west, and collided when the truck was passing the car, patrolmen said. Mrs. Prynn was the only one injured.

DIES AT AGE 34

Services will be held at the Jones funeral home, 681 Park avenue west, at 4 p. m., Friday with Rev. J. G. Ellington officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

try was invaded over a week ago without any formal declaration of war.

Poles Standing Up.

"In spite of human and material losses which have already been suffered, the morale and courage of the Polish people remain unaffected.

"In the east the Poles are fighting hard against a strong and ruthless enemy who are relying upon the weight of numbers and materials to crush all opposition.

"The Polish soldier has ever shown himself a courageous and determined fighter and today is worthily maintaining this tradition against overwhelming superiority in the air.

"Outnumbered and outgunned, he is contesting every yard of the German advance."

Referring again to the situation on Germany's western frontier, Chamberlain said:

"Certain information has been published regarding what has taken place in eastern France, but for obvious reasons no details can be disclosed.

"The outbreak of war has found the same spirit of determination among the French people as is evident here.

"The understanding between the two countries is complete and arrangements which have now been put into force for cooperation of all activities connected with prosecution of the war are working smoothly and well.

"On the naval side, the most important feature to the present has been development of German U-boat attacks on our shipping. Sinking of the Athenia, with its scenes of death and terror virtually opened the war, and no denials or inventions on the part of Germany will convince the public of German innocence of this crime which has profoundly shocked and horrified the world.

"Apart from the case of the Athenia, there have been attacks upon other British merchant ships by German U-boats, and three or four ships have been sunk.

"The admiralty has taken immediate counter-measures. British destroyers and other anti-submarine escort vessels are rapidly becoming available."

ly to come in on our side."

No details were given in the latest communique which confirmed continued progress in the Franco-British effort to blast through Germanys' famed Siegfried line.

The announcement, labelled official war communique number 7, stated:

"On the front there, has been marked activity on one side and the other."

It was assumed that the French push which on Monday enabled troops operating under the tri-color to penetrate the German lines was continuing uninterrupted.

Once again there were no details of the fighting nor any data enabling amateur military strategists to plot the Franch advance, now reliably reported to have placed French troops more than six miles beyond the German frontier.

Tables Turned.

On the basis of what is known, however, it may be assumed that initial hostilities are taking place not on the soil of France as in the last great war, but on German territory between the Rhine and Moselle rivers, with strategic points in the rich Saar valley the apparent first objectives of the allied forces.

British air squadrons are already operating in France side by side with the French, it was established today.

M. Giraudoux, French minister of information, stated:

"You have seen in the sky of Paris fine squadrons of British planes. Many of these are now in the provinces of France, on watch with our own."

Troops of the British dominions also will soon be seen in France, he said.

"Britain has entered the war escourted by Australia and New Zealand, and soon by Canada," Giraudoux declared.

"We saw these admirable soldiers at Vimy and elsewhere. We will see them again, for they understand that this war is only a continuation of the war they have already fought."

Paris spent a quiet night, with no air raid warning interruptions as occurred on two occasions the previous night. Henceforth, it was stated, the sirens will be sounded only in event of "very imminent danger." In the past, the warnings have been sounded even when enemy planes approached only on reconnaissance flights.

The reference to "marked activity" in today's announcement conveyed to some observers an intensification not only of the French drive but of the German resistance.

In the absence of further official news, Parisians took cheer today from a declaration in the French press that "North America very soon will join us in some fashion."

The prediction came from Mme. Genevieve Tabouis, authoritative writer in L'Oeuvre, who often gets her inspiration from the foreign office.

"World indignation against German aggression is worse than in 1914," Mme. Tabouis said.

"The Scandanavian countries will adhere to the Democratic side, and South American countries are making their decision this week.

"North America very soon will join us in some fashion."

No one knows what the Soviets and Italy will do, she said, but held that Russia could only prolong the war, and Italy was even less important.

Italy's Frontier Open.

One indication of the relations between France and Italy was the resumption today of service on the Simplon-Orient express, now rerouted via Italy.

The latest account of the military situation as given in the Petit Parisien says that fighting continued on an elastic front between the Rhine and Moselle rivers.

In addition, it was stated, an artillery duel is in progress near the Swiss frontier.

"Fighting along our front from Lauterbourg to Luxembourg has been going on since the first engagement on Monday," the paper said.

(The London Daily Mail quoted the Paris radio as announcing today that the French army stormed and captured many fortified positions.)

warning from a federal district attorney against "price abuses."

The Associated Press reported that Mayor Lee D. Schroy of Akron had telegraphed a request to Gov. John W. Bricker for a state-wide study of the increased cost of foodstuffs to determine if there is "any justification in the face of reports of vast surpluses."

Schroy suggested that the governor "consider desirability of anti-profiteering legislation covering food and living essentials."

At Dayton, U. S. District Attorney Calvin Crawford said complaints against price increases "are so numerous that it may become necessary to investigate abuses."

"It is admitted there is no scarcity of food," said Crawford. "If consumers will avoid hysteria buying they can, themselves, do much to discourage profiteering."

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace at Washington said that he didn't know of any possible shortages of basic foodstuffs, the United Press reported.

Wholesalers generally contended that the consumers themselves were forcing prices up by an "unwarranted demand" and warned that "shortages" would be felt until supplies can be moved from warehouses.

One retailer said that "people are just making fools of themselves by hoarding and helping the profiteerers."

Secretary Wallace said the farmer should not be blamed for the increases, that prices consumers are paying for farm products are not high. He said, however, that he had turned over "several complaints" of profiteering in foodstuffs to the department of justice for investigation.

Yesterday W. Dale Hilbish, chief of the state bureau of markets in Columbus said that an investigation into profiteering markets" in Ohio would be made.

SMASH HITLER, BRITAIN'S GOAL

London Hears War Cabinet Informs Europe Nazidom Must Be Abolished.

expected to make an offer of peace. . . . That is already plainly anticipated by yesterday's transparent attempt to persuade France, having declared war, not to wage it.

"On this tactical move it is sufficient to say with the prime minister that the survival of Hitlerism would only mean that the world would continue to pass from one crisis to another and that it must therefore be ended once for all. . . .

"The allied nations are in this war with grim determination to end a Nazi government utterly faithless and brutal. They will neglect no legitimate means and spare no effort to achieve this end."

Announcement was made today that South Africa had declared herself in a state of war with Germany.

Each day signs accumulated that Adolf Hitler's plan of campaign as it was forecast before the war started was being followed thus far:

1. Hitler had not declared war against Britain and France.

2. He had made no offensive move on the western front against the French and British.

3. The Nazi foreign office spokesman told neutral correspondents: "Germany is taking no action on the western front."

4. Hitler so far as was known here was concealing from the German people the French movement against his Limes line.

5. The Italian inspired press was hinting that the French and British might "listen to reason" after Poland had been smashed, and was suggesting that Italy might then have an opportunity to mediate.

These and other signs led to the belief that Hitler was pursuing the forecast tactics—crush Poland in a lightning stroke within a few weeks, leaving Italy entirely out and then, turn quickly and inform the French and British that Poland was none of their affair and that he was ready for peace and a general European settlement.

BOSTON (AP)—The request of a new cafe that its name be approved has caused quite a stir in staid old Boston.

Police filed a protest. The licensing board took the matter under advisement.

"We don't want to appear too puritanical," said Miss Mary Driscoll, board chairman, "but . . ."

The name? "Sloppy Joe's."

position early last Friday, trained her heaviest guns on the Westerplatte and blasted away. All day Friday Danzig harbor rang with the roar of cannon and the scream of big shells battering away at the Poles.

At night the Westerplatte still was resisting.

The Germans made at least two frontal attacks with infantry. Both times machine guns chattered and in one charge 50 Germans were reported killed. The German officers never could find out where the machine guns were planted and were having trouble directing their heavy fire on the nests.

On Saturday, the Germans, unsuccessful by sea and land, took to the air.

Twenty-two Nazi bombers went aloft and dropped at least 50 bombs on the defenders of the fort. That exposed the Poles to a double peril because they had a sizeable store of ammunition, much of it close to the surface.

The bombs exploded a few stores of ammunition, but the Poles clung to their position despite the fire from within and above.

Hour after hour the Germans rained a bombardment on the fort. They even used land artillery and an armored train, but everytime the Germans thought they had silenced resistance, the machine guns chattered again.

Tuesday I left Danzig with a group of newspapermen. The Germans said they would "not object" if we departed.

When the taxicab in which we were riding rolled away in the darkness, the Poles still held the Westerplatte.

Roosevelt Enlarges U. S. Cabinet for 'War Emergency'

STARTS DRIVE ON SPIES; SEA PATROL OPENS

Administrators of Security, Works, Loans Added to Cabinet Personnel.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt today enlarged his cabinet "for the duration of the emergency" to include the administrators of loans, works and security.

At the same time the government moved swiftly to crush activities of foreign spies within the nation's borders, while an augmented naval and coast guard fleet steamed the Atlantic seaboard to protect American shipping.

Enlargement of the cabinet was announced in connection with a cabinet meeting called for today instead of tomorrow because the president hopes to leave sometime tomorrow for his Hyde Park N. Y., home.

In addition to the regular 10 cabinet members, those invited to attend this afternoon's session were Paul V. McNutt, security administrator; Jesse H. Jones, loan administrator, and John M. Carmody, works administrator.

At the same time, Stephen Early, White House press secretary, said the president had "no immediate plans" for calling congress into special session to revise the neutrality act and for the present would study and explore the operation of the arms embargo and determine the extent of his present powers.

In another move connected with the war situation in Europe, Secretary Morgenthau completed his emergency advisory council with the appointment of three economists.

The three are Prof. Jacob Viner of the University of Chicago, and Walter W. Stewart and Winfield W. Reifler, both of the institute for advanced study at Princeton, N. J.

Early asserted that the White House was receiving many "kickbacks" on the rise in food prices and all of these were being sent to Attorney General Murphy and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Wallace, who announced yesterday his department was investigating such complaints, was invited to a luncheon conference with the president today to discuss the situation.

The president, bolstering the United States' neutrality, ordered a "comprehensive and effective" drive against espionage, sabotage and neutrality violations.

HIT $527,000

Tax Payments $47,000 Short of Charge for Half Year.

Mail payments totaling $15,471 yesterday pushed the county's property tax receipts for the last half of the year up to $527,279, about $47,000 short of the charge for the half year.

Late payments continued to come in today and Treasurer John E. Kolb expected to collect almost 100 per cent of the charge before the end of the month.

Tax books closed a week ago and payments made since then have been classed as delinquent unless the property holder arranged to pay before the period ended.

Total general property and special assessment taxes so far this year have amounted to $1,167,279, including $640,000 collected during the first half of the year.

planes Tuesday had demolished the region of the railway station and caused more havoc in the suburbs. The Germans had spared the main business district of the city.

At 5:30 a. m. today during another raid, a bomb cut the railway administration building in half and only the fact that it was so early in the morning prevented a heavy loss of life.

The building had been crowded by several thousand persons during business hours. There were several casualties near the airport and after the morning raid, Poles began barricading the streets.

There were no signs of troop movements here, but Warsaw's stragglers believed that a strong Polish force was already concentrated north of the city to defend it, and that it had not yet seen fit to call for reinforcements.

The first sign that Polish troops were falling back to the city was expected to be the sound of Bug river bridges being blown up in retreat.

SUMMER STAGES REAL COMEBACK

Resolutions containing the attitude of members of the Methodist church toward the European conflict were being prepared today at the North East-Ohio conference of the church at Lakeside.

Mansfield delegates and laymen went to the lake resort early in the week to attend the annual meeting.

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of St. Louis told the 1,000 delegates at the conference last night that the neutrality of the United States might aid nations "whose ideology we cannot support."

"The great majority of Americans are for neutrality at the present, but we cannot ignore the fact that if England and France are defeated, we shall not be able to breathe freely," the bishop said.

Th conference is the first since the consolidation of the three branches of the Methodist church at Kansas City last May. Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, Washington, D. C., presided last night. The conference closes Monday after the pastoral assignments are made.

CLAIMS FRENCH STARTED EARLY ON OFFENSIVE

Retired Army Leader Says France's Action Quick in View of Huge Task.

(Editor's Note: Appointment of Capt. John Houston Craige, U. S. M. C., retired, to write an expert daily analysis of the progress of hostilities in Europe was announced by International News Service today. Captain Craige, a descendant of General Sam Houston, who commanded the army which relieved the Alamo, retired only recently after 17 years of active service with the Marine Corps.)

By CAPTAIN JOHN HOUSTON CRAIGE
U. S. Marine Corps, Retired
(Written for International News Service)

NEW YORK — The significance of the French advance onto German soil lies not so much in the distance penetrated, or the importance of the results obtained, as in the fact that the French high command felt that they had sufficient munitions available to hazard an offensive at this stage of the game.

This is perhaps the most hopeful symptom that has thus far made its appearance for the cause of the French-British-Polish allies.

Munitions are all-important in war today. They are indispensable to the offensive, vital to success of the defense.

To conduct even a minor offensive on the front of a single army corps requires thousands of tons of shells. Even with supply and transportation organized as it was at the end of the World war, it took nearly a week to assemble the munitions dumps necessary for such an effort. That the French have launched such an attack on the German west wall four days after the declaration of war, implies two conditions, both very cheering to allied sympathizers.

Had Greater Supply.

First, it necessarily means the French had accumulated a larger store of shells and explosives than has generally been estimated. Had there not been an ample stock to draw upon, the French high command would not have dared using any of it in offensive action at this time, thus risking the facing of a German attack with depleted reserves.

Second, the supply machinery of the French army is already working with maximum efficiency, only a few days after the declaration. This had been expected but it remains a great tribute to General Gamelin and his associates. Things were vastly different in 1914.

It would be a mistake to expect anything approaching decisive results on the western front at this early date, or even a general offensive such as those that featured the closing days of the World war.

Warsaw from the first was doomed. The main Polish defense should have been attempted between the Bug and the Vistula, not far north and west of Lublin. And while retreating, the Polish army should have prayed that the fall rains would come early and bring that famous warrior of the Steppes, General Mud, to their assistance.

MOTORISTS IN 25 STATES ENDORSE

Pure Oil's New Solvenized* TUNE-UP PLAN

Packs more miles in every gallon... Good for cars, young or old... Already proved and popular... Makes motors "Wake Up and Live!"

"Works on cars like new tubes in a radio" ...
"Puts back their old-time vim and vigor" ...
"Makes comparatively new cars take extra pride in their work" ...

... that's just an idea of the enthusiastic response from motorists about Pure Oil's new Solvenized Tune-Up Plan.

This basic new service was developed after years of research by Pure Oil scientists.

Reports from motorists in 25 states are really amazing. They say that the combination of the Treatment and the Solvenized Gasoline gives them up to 3 more miles per gallon.

They say, too, that performance is noticeably improved. To cite just one example, here's what Jas. E. Headley, Headley's Express and Storage Co., Inc., Chester, Pa., reports:

"One of our trucks came in from New York, its valves sticking so badly it was hardly able to pull its own weight. A Solvenized Tune-Up Treatment freed the valves, enabled the truck to deliver its load on time. We are giving all our trucks a Treatment and continuing to use your Solvenized gasoline."

The two simple steps of the Pure Oil Tune-Up Plan are explained at the right.

May Reveal Hidden Defects

It does wonders for mechanically sound motors. The Solvenized Tune-Up Treatment, by cleansing your motor of excess carbon may bring to light some mechanical defect which needs the attention of a garage man or mechanic. Such defects, promptly taken care of, may prevent a ruined motor or save you future expensive repairs.

Exclusive with Pure Oil Dealers

TUNE IN every Sunday and Tuesday night when KALTENBORN EDITS THE NEWS—9:30 p.m. EST—Columbia stations.

TWO EASY STEPS

STEP No. 1
SOLVENIZED TUNE-UP TREATMENT

First your motor is "laundered" by means of the new Solvenized Tune-Up Treatment. A chemical solvent (Purosol—patent applied for) loosens excess carbon and other impurities from metal parts and flushes them out through the exhaust. Watch a car receiving this Treatment. Pay attention to the heavy clouds of "smoke" coming from the exhaust. That contains excess carbon.

Step No. 1 can be done while you wait (the average time is only 30 minutes).

COSTS ONLY $1

Money back if not satisfied—You are the sole judge

STEP No. 2
SOLVENIZED TUNE-UP GASOLINE

You fill up the tank with the famous Solvenized Pure-Pep Tune-Up gasoline.

This motor fuel contains this same exclusive solvent in the proper proportion and thereby resists re-formation of excess carbon.

Cleansing and lubricating effect on vital parts of your motor. It helps keep gas lines, fuel pump and carburetor clean and efficient.

ALLIES SEEKING TO PRECIPITATE GERMAN REVOLT

Foreign Affairs Writer Sees Britain, France Try to Sway Opinion Against Nazidom.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Writer)

NEW YORK—The Anglo-French allies are using every artifice they know to try to precipitate a revolt of the German people against Nazi Fuehrer Hitler.

England and France hope thus to achieve by propaganda what otherwise they will have to do with guns on bloody fields of battle.

This represents a carefully consideration effort by the allies; and one which they regard as one of the highest importance.

Because of this it is decidedly worth watching. Win or lose, it is a historic experiment.

Actually the Anglo-French brotherhood has been working on this plan quietly for some months. As long ago as last December, I was authoritatively informed that it was being inaugurated. But with the declaration of war it has come out into the open.

Almost the initial act of "hostility" by Britain was the dramatic dropping of six million propaganda pamphlets on German territory by airplanes, which might have been bombs instead. These papers gave the allied version of the rights and wrongs of the situation.

Since then, the allied radios have been bombarding Germany with appeals to the German people. It has been like shooting into the dark, for nobody has known how many folk were listening. Nazidom has imposed severe penalities for anyone even listening to foreign propaganda, and death in some cases for repeating it.

Still out of the dark have begun to come what purport to be answers from some Germans.

The independent labor party of Britain gave out a message which was said to have been sent by the Independent Socialists of Germany. It read in part:

"The German workers and peasants do not want war and have nothing in common with the nazi regime. Hitler begins the war with Poland against the will of large masses of the population."

On top of that, the semi-official Paris radio reported trouble in Germany and said there had been disorders in Cologne, Dusseldorf and Essen.

The three cities mentioned lie in the heart of the great Rhenish industrial area, among other things one of the world's greatest armaments centers.

At Essen are the vast Krupp steel works whose smokestacks these many years have written across the sky their story of wars and revolutions in divers parts of the world. "Krupps" and "armaments" are synonymous.

Now it happens that this Rhenish district has drawn to itself many of the so-called extremists among Germany's industrial workers. I visited that zone at the time of the Munich crisis and was informed by wholly reliable sources that there was much discontent among the laborers there. They were reported dissatisfied with their low wages, angry because Nazidom had smashed their trade organizations.

It was said then that if trouble came in Germany, this manufacturing section would be among the first to show it.

The closing of Krupps naturally would be a major disaster for the nazi regime.

It has been said that Herr Hitler's gravest danger lay in any economic crisis which would pinch his people too hard.

The German breadwinner, even as you and I, thinks a fair amount with his tummy. If he and his family are well fed, it goes far towards making for contentment. But let his wife and children encounter hunger, or even severe privation, and he may revolt.

THINKS OF FIDO, CHANGES TOUR

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—(U.P.)—Fido found it difficult to withstand a recent heat wave here, so his owner, an easterner motored to Los Angeles, complained at the officers of the Utah State Automobile association. He inquired in regard to an air-conditioned hotel and the whereabouts of a high altitude en route to Los Angeles.

"I want to see Boulder Dam," the tourist said, "but I suppose it's too hot for Fido there, isn't it?" On being informed that it was, the visitor said he guessed he would rent an air-conditioned room for Fido in Las Vegas and return for him later.

BOOSTS BALANCE

Tax Funds Received During August Hike General Fund.

Tax funds received during the month boosted Richland county's general fund balance from $7,765 Aug. 1 to $53,336 on Sept. 1, the auditor's report showed today.

Receipts during August amounted to $68,950 while expenditures for the month totaled $23,379.

At the beginning of the month the county held $392,939 in undivided general taxes and $33,049 in Mansfield Conservancy district tax.

BOWS OF ARAPAHOES TWANG FOR 1-ARROW BUFFALO KILL

THERMOPOLIS, Wyo.—(U.P.)—The sound of arrows striking targets may be heard in western Wyoming as Chief Ca Ha (One Shot) Ca Chee and his tribe of trousered college-trained Arapahoe Indians made ready to prove that the 1939 red man is not a sissy.

It looks like the eve of another Indian uprising on the Wind River reservation. Targets stand in bunches near every house and flying arrows fill the air.

Cause of the excitement was an offer by Ralph Campbell, manager of the annual Thermopolis rodeo, to provide a live buffalo for an Indian feast if Chief Ca Ha Ca Chee and his braves would guarantee to kill the beast with a bow and arrow as a special attraction.

The chief agreed and announced he would appear in person at the rodeo grounds on Sept. 3 to kill the buffalo with a single steel-tipped arrow.

The chief's boast, however, drew fire from residents of Thermopolis who argued the modern Indian was too "sissified" to kill a buffalo with an arrow like his ancestors did.

"The townspeople think the Indians have gone soft," Campbell said. "I've received a lot of protest letters from people who picture the animal running around bristling with arrows and finally being shot down by a white man to end its misery."

Campbell said one woman wrote that she would not permit her children to witness such "brutal butchery."

"Kill the buffalo with a bullet first," she advised. "Then let the Indians cook it. They should still be able to do that."

Chief Ca Ha (One Shot) Ca Chee snorted derision at the protests.

"My tribe is civilized," he said. "We wear pants and some of us have been to college. But we're still Indians, and we still can use a bow."

Wrangle Over School Gives 23 Rural Pupils a Holiday

PARENTS INSIST THEY ATTEND AT PLYMOUTH

Crawford Board Refuses to Grant Shift, Threatens to Take Legal Action.

Twenty-three pupils in the North Auburn school district of Crawford county enjoyed an extended summer vacation today while Crawford county school officials and parents of the pupils wrangled over where they will attend school this year.

The parents, meanwhile, face legal action unless they send their children to "some school" by Monday. Glenn West, Crawford county superintendent, told The News-Journal.

Determined to send the pupils to the Plymouth schools in Richland county despite an adverse ruling of the Crawford county board, the parents were said to be waiting for the Plymouth schools to open Monday before taking any action.

"Under the circumstances it will be illegal for the pupils to attend Plymouth schools, but if they go to Plymouth illegally, that's Plymouth's funeral, not ours," Supt. West said.

He added that the Crawford county board is "interested mainly in seeing the 23 pupils in school, and if they do not start by Monday, there will be action to force parents to put them in school."

Plymouth Willing.

He said he understood that Plymouth school officials had agreed to accept them and would send buses for them when school begins Monday.

The trouble started several months ago when the Crawford county board consolidated the North Auburn district in the northern part of the county with the New Washington district to the west.

Parents in the North Auburn district immediately petitioned the Crawford county board to transfer their pupils to Plymouth in Richland county.

The board dismissed the petition, Supt. West said, because it failed to list correctly the areas to be transferred and did not show the correct district lines.

Under the state school law, a board must grant the requests of a district if at least 75 per cent of the electors sign legal petitions.

Opening of the Plymouth schools was delayed until next Monday in the hope that the dispute might be settled by then, it was said. Other rural schools in the Richland-Crawford county area opened Tuesday.

Boyd Robinson, Richland county superintendent, viewed the Crawford county board's dismissal of the North Auburn petition as a "possible attempt to get around the law" requiring favorable action on petitions with 75 per cent or more of the signatures.

Fugitive 5 Years He Surrenders To 'Clear Conscience'

An Ohio State reformatory inmate who escaped from the Osborne honor camp five years ago surrendered voluntarily yesterday to Supt. Arthur L. Glattke because he wanted to "clear his conscience."

Walking into the superintendent's office yesterday afternoon, Harlen Jones, 26, Stark county, told Glattke:

"I want to give up and get it over with so I can live with a clear conscience."

The inmate told Glattke that he had been married since his escape and now has two children. He would not disclose their whereabouts.

Jones escaped from the honor camp July 5, 1934, after serving nearly two years on a 10 to 25 year sentence for robbery. Because he returned of his volition, the superintendent said only six months would be added to his sentence instead of the usual two-year penalty.

War to Give Politicians New Theme In 1940

Up and Down THE STREET

This hole-in-one business is beginning to be a habit. After going several months without an ace, Mansfield golfers produced three within the last few weeks. First was Joe Kleshinski at Possum Run, then came Oscar Frantz at the same course, and today J. C. Gorman had entered golf's hall of fame. Playing with H. T. Pritchard, Frank Thornton and E. M. Olin, Gorman sunk his tee shot with a No. 5 iron on the 152-yard 15th hole at Westbrook Country club yesterday. It was the first ace scored at Westbrook this year.

When Ed (Public Parks association) Wylie recently toured the New England states, he left no doubt with a Mansfield friend that he had seen the Old North Church (of Paul Revere fame) in Boston. The friend happened to tell Wylie before he left here that she had not been able to locate the church, in fact had driven all afternoon around Boston looking for it. He sent four post cards showing the church on four successive days, and each one bore the message that the church hadn't moved an inch in 216 years.

Deputy Sheriffs C. C. Gongwer and Glenn Freeman not only had sore legs today, but they had to put up with the "ribbing" of their fellow officers. The two deputies were attacked by dogs yesterday in a Mansfield home and while they were battling the animals their prisoner escaped and ran down the street. They got their man, however. Other deputies offered the suggestion that in the future Freeman and Gongwer take the dog warden along when they go to make an arrest.

You oldsters who have lived in Mansfield since the turn of the century may not have given much thought to the changes that have come about gradually in the old town, but to Adam Gruenig of Ceres, Calif., they are astounding. Because when Mr. Gruenig left his home here 31 years ago it was just a thriving town with street car tracks up the Main Stem and the Vonhof was the smartest hotel in town. He left here in 1908 when William Howard Taft was president, when automobiles were still an oddity. This is his first visit back in 31 years. His wife was formerly Catherine Hahn of Mansfield.

PROFESSOR DIES

CUT POLICE PAY FOR PENSIONS

New Law Effective Sept. 13 Calls for Contributions of Two Per Cent.

Mansfield city policemen will have their pay checks cut two per cent beginning Oct. 1, City Auditor Paul L. Kelley said today.

Under a new state law effective Sept. 13, all officers of the police department are required to contribute two per cent of their wages to the police pension fund in order to be eligible for pension fund benefits, Kelley said.

City firemen are covered by a similar law which went into effect on Aug. 10. First deductions from their pay checks were made Sept. 1.

Both police and firemen may decline to participate in the pension plan by submitting a written notice to the city treasurer. Such action, the auditor said, would make them ineligible for benefits.

The city has a levy in effect now to raise fire and police pensions. A two-tenths of a mill levy raises approximately $12,000 annually for police pensions and a .22 of a mill levy for firemen's pensions bring in approximately $13,000 a year.

Of this amount approximately $9,240 is paid out annually in police pensions to widows and dependents of former officers and disabled policemen. From the firemen's pension fund approximately $8,820 is paid out yearly.

COUNTY GETS $3,492 IN FIRST ALLOCATION UNDER RELIEF LAW

The state welfare department today allocated $3,492 in state relief funds to Richland county, Mansfield and Shelby in the first distribution of money under the new relief law.

The allocation, added to what the county and the two cities already have, was expected to fall nearly $1,000 short of enough to meet the July relief bills, which amounted to more than $8,000.

The present relief situation was seen as a vanguard of trouble for Mansfield when cold weather boosts relief expenses far above the present figures.

Today's allocation by the state was the maximum permitted under the new relief law, and it amounted to only 39 per cent of the total relief expenditures in Ohio for July. The local districts must make up the rest.

Mansfield received $2,053 in today's allocation, while the county got $1,106 and Shelby, $333. Each of the districts had to provide more than they received in matching funds before the state would distribute the money. The matching funds and state money will be combined to apply on bills.

The county area, which includes all districts outside of Mansfield and Shelby, is expected to have little trouble meeting its bills under the new set-up, since the county has more authority to borrow and its expenses for relief are less than in Mansfield.

ILL YEAR, DIES

Mrs. Cook Was Chief Operator for Bell Telephone Here.

Mrs. Mary Ethel Cook, 42, of 147 South Diamond street, died in the General hospital yesterday after an illness of a year.

Mrs. Cook was employed at the Ohio Bell Telephone company for 22 years and was chief operator and instructor at the time of her death. A resident of Mansfield 23 years, she was born in Loudonville, April 9, 1896.

Surviving are her husband, Louis C.; a sister, Mrs. Daniel Deviney of Jeromesville, and a brother, Louis Bird of Loudonville. She was a member of St. Peter's Catholic church.

Funeral services will be held at St. Peter's church at 10:30 a. m. Saturday with Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery. The body will be at the home until the time of services.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Darling, must you always read at the breakfast table."

SEE NEUTRALITY AS BIG ISSUE IN NEXT CAMPAIGN

Issues Arising From Conflict Abroad Due to Overshadow State Problems.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The war in Europe, it appeared today, will give Ohio politicians as well as those in other states a new theme for the 1940 political campaign.

Instead of the economic issues that have been dinned into the public's collective ears in recent years, most campaign speeches in congressional and senatorial races probably will deal with neutrality and other phases of the effect of the war on this country. In public interest these contests may overshadow fights on state problems.

The issue of the neutrality law, shelved in the last session of congress, undoubtably will be a chief talking point and it remains to be seen whether President Roosevelt's orignal idea for repeal of the arms embargo clause will attract greater support. There is the possiblity of a special session to deal with this matter long before the 1940 campaign, however.

Profiteering Up Too.

The question of profiteering and increased prices should prove another alluring topic for the politician. Already Congressman James Seccombe, Republican, of Canton, has commented on that one. He was quoted as saying that he would ask Atty. Gen. Frank Murphy and Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins to prevent skyrocketing food prices.

It was understood that on this point in Ohio the state agriculture department has broad power to investigate sharply rising food prices.

Likewise there is the probability that "Americanism" will be more than ever a favorite subject for campaign oratory. With the background of the Dies committee's disclosures in its investigations into "un-American" activities the increased tension as a result of conflict abroad should enliven that field.

The effect of the war on the political strategy of Sen. Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati, an active candidate for the Republican presidential nomination will be interesting. There was speculation whether Taft would shift from the policy of attacking the Roosevelt economic program to that of discourses on foreign affairs.

J. G. HAMILTON, PRINTER, DIES

Orrville Native, 53, Succumbs After Lingering Illness.

James G. Hamilton, 53, of 16½ North Diamond street, died in the General hospital last night after a lingering illness. A printer employed at the Marquis Printing company, Mr. Hamilton was born in Orrville, Dec. 8, 1885.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 3 p. m. Friday. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

BRIEF ILLNESS FATAL TO WIDOW

Mrs. Lommatzsch, 71, Was Resident of City 47 Years.

Mrs. Emma Lommatzsch, 71, of 5 Monroe street, widow of Gustav Lommatzsch, died in the General hospital yesterday after a brief illness. Mrs. Lommatzsch was born in Germany, July 7, 1868, and resided in Mansfield 47 years. She was a member of the St. John's Evangelical church.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Bund Leader Kuhn Makes Good Bit of Anti-Nazi Propaganda By Himself

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—The best anti-Nazi propaganda in the United States is neither Jew nor Englishman but a more or less naturalized Aryan German intimate of Adolf Hitler himself. His name is Fritz Kuhn, he is fuehrer of the German-American bund, and he has been fought no less angrily by leaders of the Steuben Society of America than by the B'nai Brith, the Czechs, the British and the Poles.

Two years ago Theodore H. Hoffman, national chairman of the Steuben society, denounced Kuhn as an interloper who would presume to tell the members what they might think, where they must buy, what they might read, for whom they must vote and what color of clothes they must wear.

Mr. Hoffman concluded by demanding, "Who anointed this Fritz with the sacred castor oil of divine dominion?"

About the same time a prominent member of the society wrote:

"We in the Steuben society have always been up against a stone wall when it came to a question of getting suitable publicity in the English press of New York. On the other hand, the Nazis have never failed to get front page publicity. This type of co-operation has hurt the cause of those Americans of German extraction who are seeking to stamp out Naziism and keep hatred, prejudice and intolerance from our shores.

"Unfortunately, our Jewish co-citizens have been letting their hatred of the German government be visited on German-American business men. This is not common practice among Jewish employers and other Jewish people, but it is, nevertheless, evidenced in many business organizations and places of employment."

Mr. Kuhn, it should be emphasized in the interests of internal composure and tolerance, is a humiliation and a plague to the decent, patriotic American of German birth or extraction. He has been repudiated by experts, and he speaks only for himself and a small, ignorant alien minority and for his own fuehrer.

The purpose of his bund is revealed in quotations from Nazi official documents proclaiming that all persons of German blood "belong to Hitler's state, no matter to which state they have sworn allegiance." That includes many native and naturalized Americans who fiercely resent the aspersion.

These quotations, published in book form under the title the German Reich and Americans of German Origin, under the sponsorship of Nicholas Murray Butler, Samuel Seabury, Henry L. Stimson, Monsignor Ryan and others, expose the purpose of Fuehrer Kuhn.

One says: "We reject the concept of a cosmopolitan German whose chief ambition is to assimilate with the people of the country in which he lives."

Another says: "In addition to the official German legation there are now established local groups of the Nazi party foreign organization in 60 countries of the world."

Another, taken from an official speech by E. W. Bohle, fuehrer of the Nazi department for the fomentation of treason in foreign countries, officially known as the foreign organization of the party, says: "The main accusation against the foreign organization and party comrades abroad is that we are causing unrest in the German colonies and destroying their unity. If fight means unrest, then we admit we created unrest."

There are many other gems, but these suffice to prove the mission and attachment of Kuhn's bund and to indicate the embarrassment suffered by many loyal Americans by reason of Kuhn's speeches and the failure of their fellow-Americans to discriminate between those who follow and those who loathe him. That embarrassment and the injustice of it will increase unless the press does learn to give appropriate coverage to acts of repudiation and the people, especially the Jew, to learn to distinguish the seditious bundsman from the legitimate American.

Kuhn promises to "throw out of office" the president of the United States, a threat which, uttered against Hitler in Germany by no matter whom, would qualify the speaker for an appointment at the chopping block. Some Americans, particularly some of German birth or blood, might wish to lock him up, beat him up or heave him out. But, on second thought, all who detest Hitlerism would prefer to let him stay, realizing that every time he opens his mouth he aggravates the decent hatred of everything he represents.

He is, by paradox, the greatest single force against Hitlerism now operating among us. If he is dangerous at all it is only because his insolence might goad this country into active participation in the war against the loathesomeness of which he is a worthy spokesman.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Out here you listen to a lot of actresses talking about the movies they want to do, and most of the time you can spill the salt cellar on their rosy dreams before taking. Not so with Lillian Gish: after hearing her tell it, I believe she'll make that movie if it breaks her.

Miss Gish, the flutter-and-throb girl of the silents, has become quite a cosmopolite since her voluntary desertion of the screen that made her famous. Those ten-odd years away from Hollywood, years spent in much success on the New York stage, in travel, in writing, have been kind to her appearance. She looks as slim, as pretty, as slightly fey a person as the Griffith ingenue whose history, like Mary Pickford's, was practically the movies' history.

It's a movie about the movies, as you may have heard, that Miss Gish is burning to make. She has the script ready—she did it in collaboration with Myron Brinig, author of "The Sisters" and other novels—and it's going the rounds of the studios. She wants to play in it, and she wants David Wark Griffith to play in it and help produce it.

"I'm afraid the studios fear new things," she says, in her guest room at Pickfair. "Once I wanted to make a religious picture, and everyone was sure a religious picture would fail. So I put my own money into it and 'The White Sister' broke some records."

The film, as she projects it, would be a serious study of the growth of the movie industry from its beginnings. It would dwell on Edison and the other pioneers, and it would show how Griffith developed and perfected the art of the silent film. It would touch upon the making of many of his history-making pictures, "The Birth of a Nation," "Way Down East," "Intolerance" and "Broken Blossoms."

"Mr. Griffith did more," she says, "to develop motion pictures than any other man. Hollywood doesn't glorify heroes until they're dead, ordinarily. How much better to make a picture about Griffith when he's here to help us! Perhaps Hollywood is chary about talking of itself on the screen. Mr. Griffith and I have been away long enough that we could come in, practically as strangers, and do the film without giving the impression of Hollywood-boasting-about-Hollywood.

"There's another thing. America may not lead the world in some things, but in motion pictures there is no question of Hollwood's leadership. I think we ought to tell the world about what Hollywood has done, through a serious film. Box-office? It would have nostalgic interest, surely, for fans who knew the old pictures, for all those who have grown up since and seen revivals. And it would have interest for anyone who knows pictures as they are today. And finally, it would be entertaining—because we'd use to that."

TELL FUTURE EVENTS OF PATRIOTIC UNIT

Jared Mansfield Chapter of D. A. R. Will Open Fall Season With Constitution Day Tea Later In September.

MANSFIELD, unquestionably one of the most active club cities, can also boast proudly of having many important patriotic organizations. One of these, the Jared Mansfield chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, has just announced plans for the coming season.

The chapter, which was organized in 1919, has as regent this year Mrs. A. C. Tuttle. She will be assisted by Mrs. Stanley A. Richardson, vice-regent; Mrs. W. P. Close, chaplain; Miss Ruth Culbertson, secretary; Mrs. Brinkerhoff Spear, treasurer; Mrs. H. L. Creveling, historian and librarian; Mrs. Lamar Goard, Crestline, registrar, and Mrs. Carl Spangler, guardian of the colors.

For the opening meeting the group will have a Constitution day tea Sept. 16 with Karl H. Berns, Columbus, as guest speaker and an octette from the Jonathan Glee club supplying music. Mrs. Sidney Palmer is the chairman of the hostess committee.

Continuing a policy of monthly meetings the first Friday of each month activities will be held throughout the year. In December the club will entertain Mrs. James F. Donahue, state regent from Cleveland. On Feb. 2 the chapter will have a guest day meeting with Mrs. Carl H. Henkel as the hostess chairman. Mrs. James B. POLAND: KEY TO EUROPE by Raymond Leslie Buell, president of the Foreign Policy association is a case study in the world distress of the past year. Mr. Buell intended to write only a brief report, but finding the problems in Poland so complex, he decided to write a book surveying and analyzing the problems of modern Poland in a sympathetic but scientific spirit. This country with the most rapidly increasing population in Europe lacks the resources to provide a decent living on the basis of self-sufficiency.

A timely book by Major George Fielding Eliot, author of THE RAMPARTS WE WATCH, is BOMBS BURSTING IN AIR which describes the influence of air power on international relations. Stressing the importance to the United States of air power as a means of defense, Mr. Eliot enlightens the reader as to the significance of number and kind of planes in computing their actual military value.

BORN TO TROUBLE by Captain Patrick A. Meade is the boisterous autobiography of an Irish fighting man. His experiences include service under the British flag in many parts of the Empire.

THE WHITE HOUSE by Ethel Lewis is an informal history of the architecture, interiors and gardens of our Presidential mansion. The author relates the reasons for the various changes which have been made in the structure and furnishings.

SNOW-WATER by Dorothy Gardiner is a vigorous novel telling the life-story of one man, Captain Daniel Bartor, who fought every obstacle of nature and man's doubt to bring water to the arid Western plains. The author grew up in Colorado and the drama of the struggle to succeed in irrigating barren land is part of her heritage. The Captain and his wife, Celestia, are a pair never to be forgotten, he gruff but kindly, and she tiny and pretty, managing him by constant contradiction.

LISTEN FOR THE VOICES, by Anne Colver, is a novel of Concord's great days. The chief characters are fictitious, but they mingle with the illustrious men and women who lived there in 1850.

Vicki Baum's SHANGHAI '37 is a dramatic novel of Shanghai on the eve of the Japanese invasion. Against the background of this international cross-roads appear a dozen oddly-assorted characters who have come from all over the world, to meet a common doom.

SIMPLE TESTS OF SKIN SHOW CANCER SIGNS

Temple University Scientist Finds Experiments 90 Per Cent Successful.

PHILADELPHIA— (U.P.) —Dr Benjamin Gruskin, director of oncology (tumor and cancer research) and experimental pathology at Temple Medical school here, has developed a simple skin test for cancer.

Revelation of the new cancer test was made when Dr. Gruskin filed for patent rights, thereby acknowledging apparent success for his discovery.

The test, which was reported successful in 90 per cent of cases attempted, consists merely of injecting a specially prepared fluid under the epidermis, or outer skin. The fluid is processed from tissues of embryo of calves, sheep or pigs.

Test by Skin's Color.

If a person is cancerous in some part of the body, the section of the skin where the fluid was injected will turn a telltale red, according to the test. The weal will then push out thin projections, or pseudopodia (false feet).

However, if the skin does not change color, and the pseudopodia do not appear, the person is not suffering a cancerous condition, the tests showed.

Dr. Gruskin described his experiment in the Journal of Laboratory and Clinical Medicine.

He explained that cancer cells are akin to normal cells but never "grow up" and remain in an embryonic state which causes them to grow wildly instead of becoming useful tissue.

Entire Body Sensitive.

The whole body becomes sensitive to that type of cell, the article said, and so, if outside embryonic cell material is injected, the skin reacts and produces pseudopodia.

Dr. Gruskin said he obtained the embryonic cell material from the pancreas, liver and other organs of foetuses taken from cows, sheep and pigs in slaughter houses.

They are then chemically processed into a clear liquid which is suitable for injection.

A similar test can also be performed on the blood, if the skin is unhealthy, according to the Temple scientist.

MICRO-PHOTOS CONSERVE SPACE

PHILADELPHIA— (U.P.) —Temple University will inaugurate a new system of filing student's records—through use of micro-photography.

In an effort to conserve space required for filing, motion pictures of approximately 12,000 student record cards will be made. The film can then be stored in a single desk drawer where formerly 100 such receptacles were required.
